'Story Of The Carols'

Voices Of Angels Swell Through The Centuries

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

On the plains above Bethlehem the shepherds listened in wonder and delight to the singing of the world's first Christmas carol.

The great Gloria chorus, proclaiming the birth of the Savior, rang out over the frost - jeweled valleys and caught a never ending echo in the ancient Judean hills.

The hills echoed it to the mountains, and the mountains sang it to the stars. Out across the chasm of centuries it carried, a strain of unsurpassed beauty that time could not still. It whispered urgently in the ears of composers. It burst forth from the hearts of poets. Men of all ages and climes heard it in infinite variations.

George Frederick Handel, a poor barber's son who wanted all his life to write great music, heard it in the loneliness of his London flat in the year 1741.

"I did think I did see all Heaven before me, and the Great God Himself," he described his moment of sublime inspiration. Bankrupt, broken in health and spirit, he locked himself indoors with his dream for 22 days, seldom eating or sleeping, and emerged with his greatest oratorio, "The Messiah," clutched in his paralyzed left hand.

CHARLES WESLEY, the poet laureate of Methodism, heard it on his way to church on Christmas morning, 1739. The joyful clanging of the bells seemed to him like silver tongues of angels singing a welcome to the Christ child. His "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," written almost on the spot, remains to this day one of the most popular of all Christmas hymns.

The Rev. Joseph Mohr heard it one Christmas Eve in the Austrian Tyrol while returning from a sick call.

He was a newly - ordained priest assigned to St. Nicholas Church, Oberndorf, a parish so poor that the church mich could find nothing better to eat than the bellows of the organ. Their choice of fare saddened the young priest, because it meant there would be no Christmas music.

Pausing to rest on his way down a mountain, Father Mohr was struck by the beauty of the snow covered peaks, soft blue in the star light but glowing here and there with the torches carried by his parishoners on the way to Midnight Mass.

"Silent night, holy night
All is dark, save the

The words rushed to his mind. Hurrying to the home of his friend Franz Gruber, the local schoolmaster and church organist, the priest begged a melody to fit his simple words. In less than an hour, Gruber scored the exquisite poem for guitar and two voices.

"We will die, you and I," Gruber told his wife, "but this song will never die." That Christmas morning in 1818, with Father Mohr playing the Italian guitar and singing tenor to Franz Gruber's rich bass, "Silent Night" first burst forth upon the world.

President Sends Letter

Ike Calls On Khrushchev To Join In Summit Talks

Two Other West Chiefs Send Letters

Action Follows End Of Leaders' Talks Over The Weekend

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower sent a letter to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today inviting him to the first of a series of summit meetings, to "consider international questions of mutual concern."

Similar letters are going from the British and French chiefs of government, as a followup to their Western summit conference over the weekend.

Eisenhower said this meeting agreed it is desirable that the East-West summit session "convene from time to time in each other's countries to discuss the main problems affecting the attainment of peace and stability in the world."

The first meeting will convene in Paris April 27 if Khrushchev accepts the arrangements.

The Big Four, in their invitations to the Soviet leader, ruled out the participation of divided Germany, Red China and India.

Eisenhower said goodby to Paris after a brief meeting today with British Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He flew to Madrid.

The ceremonies of his departure from Paris were unusually brief. Mounting the steps of his orange-nosed jetliner, after the playing of the Star Spangled Banner and the Marseillaise, he turned and said "goodby."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the "President thinks the accomplishments were fine" at the four-power Western summit. In his private talks with De Gaulle, however, the President apparently failed to win De Gaulle over to the American view that French air forces should be integrated into the NATO command.

The communique from the Big Four reaffirmed the West's determination to yield no basic rights in divided Berlin. It "reaffirmed the principles set forth in a four-power communique of the 14th of December, 1958 and the declaration of the North Atlantic Council of the 16th of December, 1958."

These documents, pledging to defend Berlin against Soviet aggression, represent a return to early Western positions in the Geneva foreign ministers conference this year.

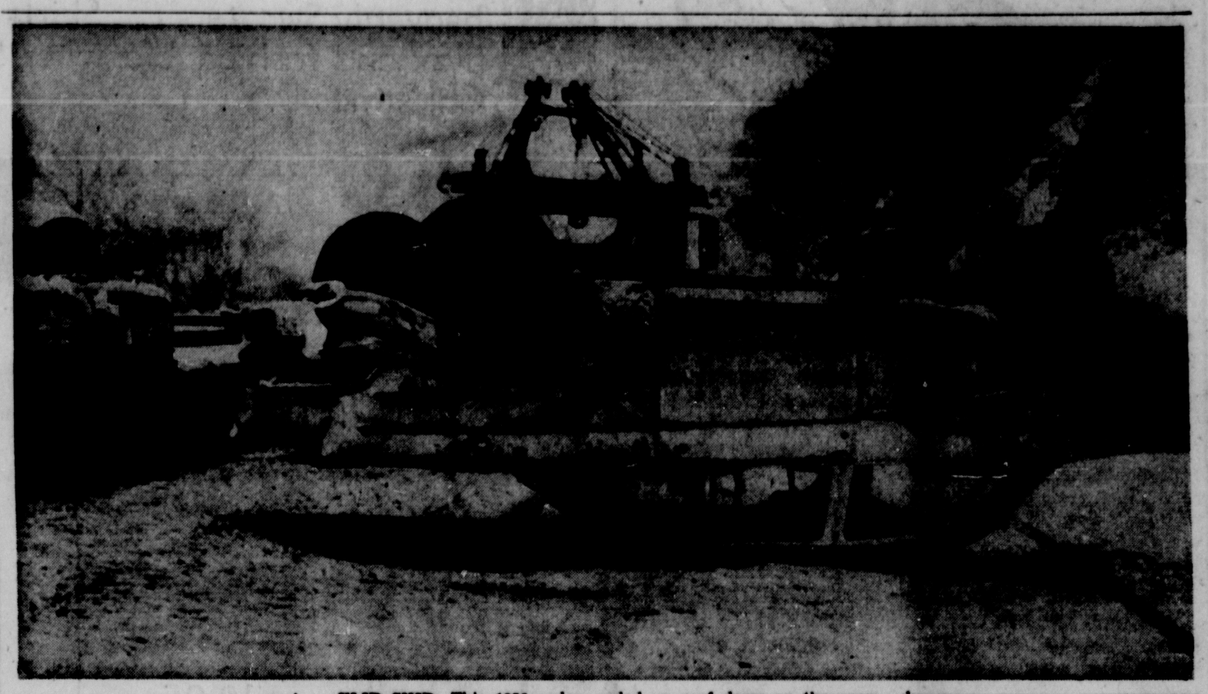
That conference ended in deadlock after the West proposed concessions to get an interim settlement in Berlin. These concessions now apparently are out. They included a trimming of forces and some curbing of propaganda in Berlin, and treating with East Germans as agents of the Soviet Union on the subject of communication lines.

Hagerty said Eisenhower, however, felt there is ample room for discussing any and all problems involving Berlin.

Hagerty also said the idea for the series of summit meetings does not commit the next American president. The April meeting likely would be the only such meeting in 1960, since the U.S. presidential campaign will get under full steam next summer.

The Western view limiting the conference to the Big Four powers was made in instructions which the ambassadors in Moscow make orally to the Soviet Union.

The Eisenhower note to Khrushchev made plain the President wants a wide-open summit meeting where discussions can range far.



FLIP SKID. This 1956 sedan ended up roof down on the snow-slicked East Liverpool-Wellsville "super road" this morning about 8:30, injuring a Wellsville man. Cyrus L. Thomas, 59, of 414 Buckeye Ave. is in City Hospital with hip and pelvis injuries suffered when the car skidded on the roadway and flipped over about a half mile south of the city limits. He is in "fairly good" condition. The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon is investigating.

Motorist Hurt As Auto Rams W. 8th St. Pole

Drunk Driving Case To Face Driver On Release At Hospital

A 50-year-old Wellsville motorist, accused of drunken driving, was hospitalized early today with injuries suffered when his car struck a utility pole on W. 8th St. near Edwards Ave., police reported.

Six other mishaps were reported over the weekend, including four Saturday during the heavy pre-Christmas traffic.

Ernest Jenkins Ware, 416 Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, is reported in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital. His injuries were not listed.

Police said Ware was headed north on W. 8th St. when his car struck the pole. The mishap was timed at 1:06 a. m.

Ware will be arraigned in Municipal Court on the drunk driving charge when he is released from the hospital.

Two mishaps were reported at 11:15 a. m. Saturday.

Mildred E. Halladay, 35, of Aliquippa was cited for failing to yield the right-of-way on E. 6th St. when her car scraped an auto operated by Thomas B. Kelley, 71, of 1011 Township Line Rd., Wellsville. She forfeited a $16 bond today in Municipal Court.

At the same time, cars operated by Gordon L. Turner, 1113 White St., Wellsville, and William Jones, 34, of 809 Northside Ave. collided at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts. Both

State Patrol Probes 4 Skidding Accidents

At least four area traffic mishaps were being investigated by State Highway patrolmen from the Lisbon post late this morning, while many other minor skidding crashes were being shrugged off by motorists becoming used to December's road conditions.

The patrol reported accidents on Route 30 near the Pearl China Co., one on Route 30 east of Minerva and one on Route 164 north of Lisbon and was investigating one on the East Liverpool-Wellsville "super road" in which a Wellsville man was hurt when his car overturned.

New Galilee Man Freed In Manslaughter Case

Clarence M. Swogger Jr., 22, of New Galilee was freed today after a hearing in Beaver County Court on charges of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the death of his father last July.

In a statement issued by Judges Robert E. McCreery and Morgan Sohn, they said that they did not condone the killing but the Swoger's efforts were heroic in the defense of his mother.

It is alleged that the boy's father was beating the mother when Swoger killed his father. A witness said that the mother was bruised and bleeding.

It's White, All Right

Driving Perilous In District Snow

Although it's probably the forerunner of a white Christmas, the snow that fell in East Liverpool today also produced the worst driving conditions of the season.

The snow continued steadily throughout the morning, building up an accumulation of 4 inches or more by noon in the rural areas. The Ohio weatherman issued a warning of "hazardous driving conditions" and said the snow will continue intermittently throughout the afternoon and tonight, ending sometime Tuesday morning.

Streets and highways were slick when the first workers headed for plants this morning. They found the pavements glazed with ice that had a covering of fresh snow, a combination that produced many traffic mishaps.

Although city, county and state maintenance crews got an early start, the continuing accumulation of snow made streets and highways hazardous.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said all roads and highways are snow covered and slippery, with driving reported "very hazardous." Jefferson County Highway Department crews were called out early this morning to spread ashes and salt.

The county Highway Department went to work at 7 a. m. with 12 trucks and 3 graders, according to John (Dick) Neill, superintendent.

Driving conditions are hazardous throughout the area, the State Highway Patrol post at Lisbon reported.

Midland streets were reported slick but intersections were salted by crews called out at 5 a. m. The Midland Heights hill road was ashed twice.

The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State police near Pittsburgh reported about three inches of snow and said highways were slick even for motorists who used chains. The Rochester barracks also reported slippery highways.

Beaver and Allegheny County garages of the State Highway Departmen started on roads at 3 a. m.

Wellsville street crews were called out at 6:30 a. m. to begin spreading ashes and salt. Most of the grades and curves had been treated by mid-morning, but motorists were urged to drive with extreme caution.

State Highway Department crews were called out at 5 a. m. to spread cinders and ashes along main roads throughout Columbiana County, according to Gaylord Zellers,

Talks Resume In Steel Fight Amid Charges

Union, Companies Hurl New Blasts In Strike Deadlock

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union and steel company negotiators meet today for the first time in 10 days. As they gathered, the companies were saying new and higher union demands prove the union is responsible for the deadlock.

Union President David J. McDonald retorted it is the companies that are out of step.

The United Steelworkers reached new three-year contract agreements with major aluminum companies in Chicago over the weekend, clearing the way for their top officers to resume the steel talks. Federal mediators had recessed the talks for aluminum industry negotiations.

As the aluminum settlement took form, McDonald issued last week a new 10-point steel demand.

In a weekend development, Dr. George W. Taylor, chairman of President Eisenhower's fact-finding board, sent letters to the 93 steel firms involved, asking them to submit their last offers to the union by next Monday.

If no settlement results—and the chances were rated small—the board will submit the last offers to a secret ballot of the workers between Jan. 6 and 21, as provided by the Taft-Hartley Act.

The 500,000 unionists will be free to resume their strike on Jan. 26 if the vote is negative. On that date the 80-day federal injunction will expire.

The eleven big steel companies replied in a letter to McDonald made public Sunday night.

"The union's prior offers were unacceptable to the companies," the letter said, "because of their inflationary proportions. Yet you now seek to impose even more onerous terms of settlement.

"This, we submit, is the very antithesis of union responsibility. It proves beyond question that it is the union's policies and bargaining practices that have been solely responsible for the continuing deadlock."

The companies also said they had "serious misgivings" about bargaining separately with the union, as McDonald has demanded. But they said they were willing to talk it over at today's mediation session.

McDonald said Sunday night he had not received the companies' letter.

"The steel companies, continuing to practice industrial isolationism, seem totally oblivious of the union's recent settlements in the copper, can and aluminum industries," he commented. "All of these settlements were regarded by the public, the industries and the union to be moderate, fair and reasonable.

"The union's present proposal to the steel companies is based squarely on these recent settlements and that with the Kaiser Steel Co."

The aluminum pact, according

Wrong-Side-Of-Road Crash

9 Lose Lives In Arizona As Bus, Cattle Truck Ram

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A Greyhound bus and a cattle truck traveling on the wrong side of the road collided about eight miles east of here Sunday killing nine persons.

The bus driver and six passengers were killed along with the truck driver and his relief man.

Also killed were thirty head of cattle, mostly calves. Some other animals were maimed and had to be shot.

Highway Patrolman Jimmy Williams said truck driver James R. Stewart of Del Rio, Tex., apparently missed a "keep right" sign where the road divided for repairs. The truck, he said, was on the wrong side when it struck the Los Angeles-to-New Orleans bus.

The double-decked truck was hauling 67 steers from Jackson, Miss., to Arlington, Ariz.

Killed besides Stewart were:

Ronald Philip Spence, Las Vegas, Nev., and Hawthorne, Calif., relief truck driver.

Barney Boyd, 44, El Paso, Tex., driver of the bus.

Florence Minium, 65, Kingsville, Tex.

Johnny Lee Rodden, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rodden, Redondo Beach, Calif.

Benito Casanova, 55, Guantanamo Oriente, Cuba.

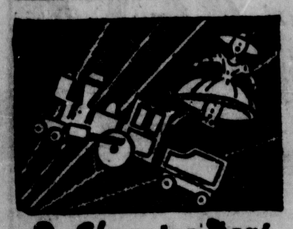
Carmen, 53, his wife.

Carol Hall Reed, 38, 304 Chestnut St., Pensacola, Fla.

Pearl Grogan, 64, Los Angeles.

"God bless that man who told us to sit still and shut up," said Delois Gaines, 39, a restaurant worker from Los Angeles. "If it weren't for him, we probably would have hurt each other trying to get out."

Near Springfield, Ohio, one person was reported killed and 34 others injured when another Greyhound bus skidded on an icy highway, overturned and rolled into a ditch.



Girl Killed, 31 Hurt When Bus Rolls Over

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — One girl was killed and 31 persons were injured when a Greyhound Scenicruiser bus swerved to avoid sliding automobiles, skidded off U. S. 40 east of here and rolled over on its top Sunday night.

Killed was Daisy Mae Harris, 15, of Cleveland. She was one of 37 passengers aboard the New York to St. Louis bus when it crashed on the icy four-lane divided highway 10 miles east of here.

"I can't tell what really did happen," the driver, Robert Everman, 41, of Franklin, Ind., said.

"We suddenly hit a slick spot and the cars in front of me started sliding. I tried to swing to the left to avoid them and the bus turned over," Everman, who was unhurt, related.

The driver, who took over on the bus in Columbus, said he received a 10 - year safe driving

Beaver Falls Fire Loss Put At $280,000

Loss was estimated today at $280,000 after fire destroyed the interior of a half block long A. & P. Supermarket Sunday at Beaver Falls.

The flames broke out in the rear of the building in a small room near the loading dock, ate through the meat department and spread through the balance of the big store.

Fire companies from Beaver Falls, White Township, Chippewa Township, Patterson Township and North Sewickley battled the blaze for three hours before bringing it under control.

Six firemen were overcome by smoke and taken to hospitals.

Only a shell was left standing.

Fire Chief Edwin H. Phillips estimated the loss at $80,000 to merchandise, $100,000 to the building and $100,000 to equipment.

Blasts Rock Quarters Used By Russian Exiles

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Two explosions rocked the living quarters of a group of Russian exiles early today. All the residents were away and nobody was hurt.

Munich police after an initial investigation said they believed bombs were thrown by Communist agents, but they were not sure whether the Reds wanted to scare the Russian emigrants or meant to kill them.

7 Danes Sentenced

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) —Seven Danes, including admitted Communist party members, were convicted today of serving as intelligence agents for East Germany and sentenced to prison terms ranging from 18 months to 5 years.

Eisenhower, Nation Honor Last Veteran Of Civil War

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The last of the faded ranks of the Blue and the Gray, Walter W. Williams, lay in state today in a gray and gold uniform symbolizing his beloved Confederacy he served nearly a century ago.

The nation's flags flew at half-staff by executive order in honor of the Civil War's last survivor, his comrades and the soldiers of the Union.

"With millions of Americans throughout our land, I pause in respectful silence," President Eisenhower said in a statement released by the White House.

Williams won countless battles against serious illness in recent years. He died Saturday of complications that followed his fourth attack of pneumonia since summer.

Relatives placed his age at 117.

"The wounds of the deep and bitter dispute which once divided our nation have long since healed, and a united America in a divided

Constitution Or Piece Of Paper

Gov. DiSalle told the educators advisory committee to the Ohio Civil Rights Commission the other day that he would like to see Ohio schools instill in their students a better understanding and appreciation of the Bill of Rights of the U.S. Constitution.

This is one of the major political problems of our nation, but it is not a new one. It has existed ever since Alexander Hamilton, James Madison and John Hay saw the need for the Federalist Papers.

Any democratic form of government depends for its success upon an informed and interested electorate. One of the basic threats to the American Constitution has always been the electorate's misunderstanding of it, or downright indifference to it.

THE TROUBLE IS that most citizens who misunderstand it or are indifferent to it do not realize this is the case. They pay lip service to a fine piece of writing or an impressive title without recognizing that lip service is not the same as understanding and appreciating.

Schools have helped to perpetuate the situation by praising the historical significance of the Constitution and requiring extended memorization of it without getting down to the meat of the thing — revealing what the memorized words mean and why they are significant.

A dramatic demonstration of this occurred a few years ago when students at two large Midwest universities were quizzed on whether they supported the doctrines set forth in the Bill of Rights. The questions were loaded: They did not use "Bill of Rights" or the phraseology of the 10 amendments. They were presented as hypothetical questions.

The result was rejection by the college students of the principles considered to be the cornerstone of our individual freedoms. This did not prove the students are opposed to free government. It proved they do not understand what free government is.

By the same token, as Gov. DiSalle pointed out, Americans are usually so busy talking about their rights and privileges that they ignore another of the necessary tenets of successful democracy: responsibility. Freedom without responsibility is anarchy.

THE DISGRACEFUL lack of interest in going to the polls on election days attests to the general ignorance of this fact among Americans. It should not be necessary for boards of election to stage expensive and time-consuming drives to "get out the vote."

If citizens accepted their constitutional responsibilities as readily as they prate about their constitutional freedoms, the election officials could devote all their time to figuring out how to handle the overflow crowds at voting booths.

The problem reaches back to the first days of our republic. It is doubtful that the goal of a completely informed and interested electorate will ever be achieved. But the effort must always be made.

If it is not, our Constitution is worth no more than the paper it is written on.

New Approach To Mental Hospitals

Jay W. Collins, Gov. DiSalle's chief adviser on improving Ohio's mental hospitals, is keeping the fires burning under officials responsible for the program by issuing periodic reports on their progress.

His latest is typical. It compliments the Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections for advances in 10 areas but slaps hard at other fields ripe for development. It sums up Mr. Collins' view of the total picture thus:

"Our improvement program is in gear, but the vehicle needs some help in the steering."

Mr. Collins probably is not winning friends among department administrators in Columbus and at the hospitals, and he may not care. But before he is roundly condemned, it should be realized that he may have a two-fold purpose.

GOV. DISALLE has been trying to emphasize that the responsibility for improving the program does not rest solely with those on the state payroll. It rests on the citizens of Ohio, too.

In this light, it is well, to note that Mr. Collins said "the vehicle needs some help." While more enthusiasm and positive thinking is needed among many of the superintendents and their bosses at headquarters, the public needs to realize what a backbreaking job has been expected of them.

There is no reason to assume a good psychiatrist will make a good administrator. The opposite is more likely. By using psychiatrists as administrators, the state gets the best service in neither field.

AN EXAMPLE is Massillon State Hospital, with more than 3,000 patients. Its effective operation would require the best of a top-notch administrator. Yet Supt. M. B. Holmes is expected to handle that job and serve as chief psychiatrist as well.

Few if any general hospitals operate that way any more. Trained experts in hospital administration run them; doctors are left free to supervise medical care, as they were trained to do.

Mr. Collins, administrator of Euclid-Glenville Hospital in Euclid, and Gov. DiSalle are aware of this weakness in the top echelon of Ohio's mental hygiene organization.

But to change it takes money and reorganization, which hinge on public support.

So the sharp words of the adviser's reports may not be aimed solely at the department's leadership. They may be designed also to lay the groundwork in public opinion for a shakeup in the whole administrative approach to the state's program.

Years Of Service

It will be strange to find Joseph M. Wells on the sidelines as the United States Potters Association pursues future activities on behalf of the industry which means so much to the district's economy.

For 30 years Mr. Wells has been spokesman for the dinnerware manufacturers—in the battle for stronger protective tariff, at the negotiating table with labor and in various other phases of the industry which have demanded attention.

There have been victories, there have been defeats during this time. But through it all Mr. Wells has demonstrated ability and steadfastness of purpose to the degree which assured the other members of the association that their cause was in good hands.

One doesn't serve for 30 years in posts as important as those occupied by Mr. Wells without being more than equal to the problems at hand. He has set a sterling example for those who now assume the responsibility he has shouldered for so long.

One Born A Minute

By Frank Tripp

The secret fun of being fooled by theatrics is too old and universal to believe that half of America is just awakening to it with appaling shock.

The ponderous pronouncements that the country's ethics and morals are in the mire, because TV pitchmen have been caught at their tricks, just don't fit the facts of life or the fundamentals of human nature.

From the days of the court jester and prestidigitators, people have been paying to be fooled. Barnum said it "there's one born every minute." He called his customers suckers, and they came in droves to be fooled. Mystery and deception are components of the theater.

American TV has elected to be show business. In their own parlor, people pay the highest prices ever paid to see a show — their time, and the future of their children; wasted hours upon hours that cannont be reclaimed. Fully half of it with deliberate intent and expectation to be fooled; and disappointment when they're not.

THEN THE government sneaks behind the scenes, finds only what every showman knows has been there always; and would have closed the book, had not the amateurs involved — the pitchmen's "come-ons" — lied themselves into perjury. For that the glorious world of make-believe is indicted, but not for committing a crime.

Showmen turned the delicate realm of illusion over to Madison Ave., and, just like Barnum's successors, they put ads on their elephants, sold stale peanuts, and watered the lemonade.

Old-P. T. called 'em suckers and took their money at the ticket wagon with the understanding that he was a confessed humbug.

My boyhood and early youth were spent with showmen, as stagehand, circus fan and theatrical press agent. The mysteries and fakery that people flocked to see now unfold in their own living rooms, and very much of it is only refinement of the same old tricks and deceptions..

For generations there has been no resentment or "legislative oversight" to hamper peoples' yen to be fooled, their innate willingness to be "suckered."

More than 60 years ago I was a stooge for Keller, the most famous magician; for Lee, the leading hypnotist; for Anna Eva Fay, the bewildering mind reader. Everyting they did was as "fixed" as the morning sunrise.

I planted articles, oft a rabbit, in strange places, things in people's pockets, so Keller could "transmit" them from the stage via his magic wand. I picked customers' pockets in the lobby or the cloak room to give Anna Eva Fay's act its most astounding "mind reading" features, things people "absolutely knew" were known to them alone.

I WAS ONE of Lee's "hypnotics" who went through the crazy antics that put comedy into his show; anything Lee demanded, like sliding on my belly to an imaginary home plate on the dirty floor of the center aisle, though never hypnotized in my life. I quit because Lee wouldn't pay my laundry bill and for the clothes I ruined.

Once I got fired for exposing a ruse. By none other than James O'Neill, Eugene's famous father. A half-dozen lads, under a dusty stage cloth, created the "sea" to shipwreck "The Count of Monte Cristo."

With O'Neill in the midst of a classic speech at the prow of his craft, a guy stepped on my hand. We put on a fist fight under it and finished the argument on the open stage, amid roars of laughter from the audience; ruined the climax, and lost our jobs.

Just like happened to Charles Van Doren.

Why Has Eisenhower Changed His Tactics

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

What's changed President Eisenhower?

There's been a big change this past year in the tactics and attitude of this 69-year-old man who has just 13 months left in the presidency.

Some examples: His dealings with Congress; his greater role in foreign affairs; his new attitude toward personal diplomacy.

For most of his White House years he was mild with Congress. This year he used a bullwhip.

As late as last August he took a dim view of personal diplomacy by heads of state at summit meetings. Look what's happened since then.

He's met with Premier Nikita Khrushchev; will meet him at the summit in April; will go to Moscow next summer; has just finished a presummit meeting in Paris; has journeyed to three continents; and now wants more summit meetings.

Why the change? It could be this simple: With his presidency drawing to a close he wants to extend himself to the utmost on both domestic and foreign fronts. His big push at home has been on less spending; abroad, it's peace.

Although the Democrats overwhelmingly control Congress, Eisenhower kept them meek by continually beating them over the head with the big-spending charge. They trotted along, as he directed.

Eisenhower could crown his double service as soldier and President if, before leaving office, he managed to help bring the world into a new era of peace. This effort alone would be a plausible explanation for his activity in 1959.

But perhaps other forces were at work on him—forces which he himself may not have consciously realised—to give him a greater sense of freedom and mission and a greater sense of self-dependency.

Through most of his presidency he relied tremendously on two men—Sherman Adams, chief of his White House staff, and the late secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

Adams, who quit 15 months ago, was Eisenhower's buffer in dealing with Congress. He was truly an assistant president, without the title. Dulles so completely dominated foreign affairs he overshadowed Eisenhower himself in this field.

Dulles never seemed to feel anything was done right unless he handled it personally. The proof is the record number of his journeys. This left Eisenhower at home, in the background, while Dulles did most of the work.

With Adams gone, Eisenhower became increasingly aggressive with Congress, although he avoided both belligerency and unpleasant personal dealings.

But the shadow of Dulles, who died in May, still hung over Eisenhower as late as August when he told friends he did not like the modern development of diplomacy —summit conferences.

He said he considered it a step backward for heads of state to spend their time on work that belongs to specialists, like foreign ministers.

He said he preferred the 19th century way of doing things when foreign ministers made the journeys, held the conferences, and heads of state mostly stayed at home.

But that was before Khrushchev came here. Eisenhower suddenly seemed to realize that he now not only had an opportunity —thin as it may seem—to achieve some peace but that he alone could seize it and work on it.

The great evidence of the change in his thinking came Sunday in Paris when his press secretary, James Hagrty, told newsmen the President favors not one but several summit conferences with the Soviet Union.

Labor Goes Abroad

By Raymond Moley

A situation has developed in the American-owned merchant marine registered abroad which raises a pertinent question about all American-owned industries abroad.

If American capital chooses to build industries in other countries to equalize labor costs in foreign markets, will it be inevitable that the big unions will seek to follow?

An essential feature of capitalism is that it is international. A perfectly free market would have no tariffs, no quotas and no exchange controls.

Goods and capital would recognize no international boundaries. Why, then, should not labor move with equal freedom from country to country?

We have, of course, never had a perfectly free market and that is more true of labor than of capital.

But there is nothing except the laws of business prudence and of the various countries involved to prevent American capital from moving to set up industries in foreign countries and with foreign labor.

Never in our history have so many American companies with their capital and managerial skills established subsidiaries in foreign countries.

A CONSIDERABLE PART of the reason for this migration is the excessive cost of labor, in the United States, which makes almost impossible the export of a growing number of our products. This is especially true in the maritime industry.

Largely because of the excessively high wages and benefits exacted by American maritime unions, American shipowners have been forced either to get a subsidy from our government or to register their ships abroad.

Hundreds of American - owned ships sail under the flags of Panama, Liberia, and Honduras and are in time of emergency or war committed to be bound over to the United States.

Only in this way can American-owned industrial carriers, not eligible for subsidies, compete with the shipping of countries whose seamen are getting a quarter or less the wages and benefits of their American counterparts.

Such ships are said by their owners to be registered under "flags of necessity," and by the bitterly resentful American maritime unions and by foreign competitors under "flags of convenience."

American maritime unions have now decided to follow the ships and incorporate in their jurisdiction the foreign crews of those foreign vessels.

The National Maritime Union and the Seafarers International Union, headed by Joseph Curran and Paul Hall respectively, have announced the formation of a jointly organized International Maritime Workers Union designed to represent in collective bargaining 70,000 seamen sailing on vessels "whose flags are foreign to the United States."

Enthusiestic predictions by these American unions have been that their membership might thus be increased by as much as 70 per cent.

OBSERVERS OF this move have suggested that perhaps some time American unions in other industries may attempt to follow capital and endeavor to organize labor in American subsidiaries abroad. But before the union leaders indulge in such plans, they should follow the story of the Curran-Hall invasion.

The European unions have reason to worry about the matter. They may well ask themselves: "What have Curran, et al, done for us? What would this do to our preserves?"

If, for instance, the new American union seeks jurisdiction on Liberian ships now under contract to German unions, the owners are likely to move to the British flag. In that case, the German seamen will lose their jobs to British crews. Or Italians may lose their jobs to Norwegians.

In any event, the unions will find that capital can move from flag to flag with much greater speed than unions. Unless, perchance, "workers of the world" can unite.

In this instance, European unions have everything to lose and the power of American unions to face.

Joyful Carols

The joyful strains of "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen," "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing" and other carols renew a durable tradition as they fill the Christmas air.

Carols have flourished for about seven centuries. Scholars praise them as "masterpieces of tantalizing simplicity"; singers delight in their buoyant themes.

All Christian nations have carols, which are religious seasonal songs, usually happy in spirit. The singing of spring and Easter carols has declined, but Christmas carols have survived and grown in popularity.

Carols originally were sung to accompany a ring dance, in which dancers joined hands and circled around. Many of the tunes retain a dance lilt.

About the 13th century, traditional dance melodies were adapted to religious texts. Worshipers welcomed something less severe than the old Latin hymns and more lively than plain song, or church chanting. The carol flourished. Sometimes a secular tune would be used again for worldly purposes after becoming a popular carol.

Carols were written by clergymen, poets, composers, peasants, and scholares vagantes, those products of European universities "equally at home in ale house, in hall, in market place, or in cloister."

The Catholic Issue

By David Lawrence

Religion Seen In Accord With Public Interest

Supposing Sen. Kennedy runs ahead of all other aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination and goes to the national convention with about 500 delegates' votes, and nevertheless is turned down, would this stir resentment among Catholics who might feel that the Massachusetts senator was being brushed aside because of his religion?

David Lawrence

This is the question which Sen. Kennedy himself now is reported to have discussed in conferences with political leaders in Pittsburgh. He is known to have talked about it among friends in Washington. The story is that, if he is defeated in the primaries of various states, he will feel that such a decision would be on its merits—the greater popularity of other candidates.

It will be recalled that in 1924—when the famous contest at Madison Square Garden took place between Gov. Al Smith of New York and William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the Treasury and there were more than 100 ballots before John W. Davis was selected as a compromise — the feeling of many Smith supporters was that religious bias played a big part in keeping the New York governor from getting the nomination.

This hurt the Democratic party in the election race that followed and led to the overwhelming acceptance of Al Smith as the candidate at the convention in 1928.

One of the common misconceptions prevalent then as well as today is that the Pope at Rome would regulate the behavior of an American president who happened to be a Catholic.

It so happens that a news magazine published an article last week in which its Rome correspondent, Curtis G. Pepper, interviewed the Rev. William A. Van Roo, an American Jesuit who is professor of theology at the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome.

THE TEXT of the interview follows:

"Q. Would a Catholic in the United States presidency pose any problem to the church?

"A. No.

"Q. How would the church construe the allegiance of an American Catholic President?

"A. The church would regard him as an American citizen and official, bound by a sacred duty to love and serve his country, and to uphold its laws in accordance with his conscience. This is a moral obligation on all citizens and officials, and there is nothing specifically Catholic involved. Furthermore, to answer what may be implicit in this question, the Catholic has no split allegiance, no dual citizenship.

"Q. Would the church expect a Catholic President to take doctrine into consideration in his decisions?

"A. Taking 'doctrine' here to be religious moral teaching concerning the law of God, one must answer yes. A Catholic President, or any other President, must act in accordance with his conscience. For any man who has a religion, this means doing what he considers right according to the law of God.

"Q. If there should be a conflict between the American public interest and church dogma, which would be considered paramount?

"A. The question seems to me ambiguous. I understand the conflict in the question to be one of conscience in the hypothetical American President.

"If this is the sense of the question, then I believe it involves a gratuitous assumption. There can be no such conflict of conscience in a Catholic or in any other religious man.

"Why? Let us understand 'dogma' here as the revealed moral law of God, proposed by the church. Secondly, let us suppose a society in which men sincerely differ concerning that law, interpreted differently by various churches.

"Obviously, among such men there can be a sharp clash of opinion as to what is the real American public interest in a particular case. But any man, Catholic or not, must hold firmly that in doing right according to his conscience, he is serving the best interest of his country.

"Public debate and the democratic process take for granted such sincere differences of opinion. It would be absurd to identify one opinion with 'American public interest' and to insist that a Catholic opposing such an opinion for reasons of conscience is simply in conflict with American public interest.

"It would be unfair, undemocratic, and un-American to discriminate in such a way against Catholic freedom of conscience in American public life.

"Such discrimination may begin with the attempt to discredit and disqualify the Catholic candidate for high office.

"Carried to its logical consequences, it would attempt to exclude Catholics not merely from the presidency but from all public office, ultimately from the right to vote."

The so-called "Catholic issue" in politics is being widely discussed in America today — due largely to misconceptions that never would have an opportunity of being clarified if there were no public discussion such as is going on today among the voters.

Featherbedding

By Truman Twill

These are days when men are searching their innermost souls for signs of wrong-doing so they can show remorse. It is getting to be like the testimonial stage of an old-time revival meeting.

Like, for instance, featherbedding. I have been peering inward to dredge up everything I might need to apologize for under this heading. Here is my confession about featherbedding. I am guilty.

I have spent a large part of my life doing unnecessary work and being paid for it.

When I worked for the ice company, I was dispatched routinely on Saturdays and the days before holidays to help out a driver whose route took him through that part of town where prohibition never was thought of seriously.

I remember that the driver's name was Bill and he was the happy-go-lucky type. He wore thick glasses, which always slipped down on his nose, but he had thick, curly hair, straight, white teeth and all in all he cut quite a figure in his blue wool shirt and leather pad.

Bill would let me lug in the 25-pound pieces for housewives who yelled from the porch, but he handled all the big chunks himself. I learned why one Saturday when we were trying to finish up before a storm struck. He let me handle a 75-pounder.

The big chunks were for the big ice boxes in which the hesters kept their home brew. When I lugged in this chunk, the place was full of amiable pots quaffing brew out of bottles. Naturally, they offered one to the ice man. I confess I never had drunk before. But I up-ended the bottle and poured it all down—the whole bomb. I guess it rained. I guess there was a storm. I was too busy trying to let the pressure out of my stomach to care.

The moral is clear. I was a featherbedder. My only real job was to make sure the horse got home if Bill couldn't.

When I was a timber hustler in a lumber yard, I was always being sent along on long trips. Here again, I was a dead-head, with no reason to be sitting there in the cab with the regular driver. Funny thing. His name was Bill, too. Long afterward I learned why I took all those long rides. Bill had a weakness for stronger stuff than home brew, but he wouldn't dare corrupt a young man of my obviously pristine condition, not when my old man was his boss. I was worth whatever it cost to cart me around the countryside to keep Bill from tying one on. He had connections, too. The big boss was his father-in-law.

Then there was the job in the clothing store. This stretches the imagination, but that featherbed's name was Bill, too. He was the full-time hired hand of the brothers who owned the store and waited on most of the trade in the busy season. But summer, when I worked there, was not a busy season, and the brothers owned race horses.

My job was to make sure that Bill, who could have handled everything alone, did not fill his mouth with chewing tobacco. The brothers knew that Bill knew I would squeal on him if asked—and his tobacco-chewing was an obsession with him and them. They were feuding over it. Once they poured purple ink on a wet cud he had fingered out of his jaw when a customer came in . . . that was a mess.

Everything I've ever done has been on the edge of featherbedding—the time I helped paint things white on highways, the summer in the truck garden, the time in the summer camp. They didn't really need me. They got along fine before I came and fine after I left. But, as far as that's concerned, won't they all?

Featherbedding is in bad repute. But, like that other pesky stuff everybody is talking about, there's a lot of it going around, here, there and everywhere. Always has been.

21 Traffic Fatalities

Ohio Accidents Claim 30

Make Fatals At A Glance

Traffic	21
Fire	9

Total	30

By The Associated Press

The year-around hazard of traffic and the wintertime hazard of fire teamed up to take 30 lives in Ohio the past weekend and write a gloomy beginning to Christmas week.

A pair of tragedies accounted for 12 of the deaths. A two-car head-on collision on Ohio 70 near Washington Court House on Saturday killed six persons ranging in age from 5 to 52. Then on Sunday night, a fire the small Lima hotel they resided in ended the lives of six men ranging from 50 to 89 years old.

What could have been the worst accident of all also came Sunday night when a crowded bus overturned on U.S. 40 near Springfield. But "only" one died there.

The 21 traffic fatalities for the 54-hour period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday amounted to around the average for a weekend in the state. But the nine deaths by fire—there were two more in a Columbus apartment blaze and one when a Chillicothe man brushed past an open gas heater on his back porck—were extremely high.

A one-car crash in Seneca County that killed two young Tiffin women Friday night helped swell the total.

The fatalities:

Friday Night

Frederick H. Black, 33, of Portland, Ind., when the car in which he was riding was struck by a train near Celina.

Vincent Walker, 30, of Columbus when a fire and explosion swept through his apartment.

Mrs. Franklin Creeger, 28, and Donna Louise O'Neal, 21, both of Tiffin, when the car they were riding in went out of control and crashed on a Seneca County road north of Tiffin.

Clyde G. Kimball, 47, of near Rayland, struck by a car as he crossed Ohio 7 at the edge of that Jefferson County town.

Mrs. Donna Lee Donatelli, 28, of Akron, in an auto collision in Akron.

Saturday

Edward Van Meter, 47; his wife, Jessie, 52, of Washington Court House; Harry G. Rayburn, 39, of Greenfield; his wife, Lou Ann, 29, and their adopted children, Peggy Ann, about 5, and Richard Lynn, about 7, in a head-on collision on Ohio 70 six miles south of Washington Court House.

Frederick J. Cramer, 21, of Tiffin, when his car struck two steel trucks on Ohio 18 in Tiffin.

Charles Porter, 54, of Columbus, of burns suffered Friday night in the apartment fire that killed Vincent Walker.

Adelard G. Prieur, 51, of Defiance, when his car hit a bridge abutment on Ohio 249 near Farmer in Defiance County.

Ted Hart, 18, of Youngstown, struck by a hit-skip motorist while he was walking along a county road near Youngstown.

Sunday

Mansel Young, 39, of South Lebanon (Warren County), when the car he was riding in collided with another auto on U.S. 52 about four miles east of Ripley (Brown County).

Howard Claghorn, 62, of near Lyons (Fulton County), of injuries sustained Saturday when the car he was riding in crashed on U.S. 20 about three miles east of Wauseon.

Lorenzo Phillips, 24, of Cincinnati, when the car he was in veered off a road and struck a guard rail in Montgomery (Hamilton County).

George John Brand, 28, of Stow, when his auto left Ohio 91 near Twinsburg and struck a tree.

Thad Armstrong, 83, of Chillicothe, fatally burned when his trousers leg caught fire as he walked by an open gas heater on his back porch.

Daisy Mae Harris, 15, of Cleveland, one of 37 passengers on a bus when it overturned into a ditch along U.S. 40 near Springfield.

Barney McCloskey, 50; John Phalen, 67; Patrick Moran, 68; Fred McCoy, 60; Wasil Kierucok, 52; and Thomas O'Day, 89, in a fire in a small hotel for old-age pensioners and railroaders in Lima.

Neville H. Dutton Sr., 48, of Jewett, fatally injured when he was thrown from his car as it over turned on U.S. 22 near Cadiz.

Sobering Climb

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Clifford McIntire, 25, in court after he scrambled up a 200-foot tower over the Maumee River, agreed with the charge of intoxication. "I never could have made it if I'd been sober," he told Judge Homer Ramey who fined him $50.

Bus

award from Greyhound Dec. 6.

He said there was not too much confusion following the crash.

"People just started climbing out the windows. I started giving first aid to as many people as I could," he continued.

Everman said several motorists stopped to give aid.

"One of them was a nurse who really helped a lot . . . I didn't even get her name," the shocked father of two said.

Only four of the injured were reported in serious condition.

One, Mrs. Daisy Harris, 35, the mother of the dead girl, sat dazed in City Hospital.

"I grabbed for Daisy Mae but I had to hold onto Debra (Mrs. Harris' 2-year-old daughter). The next thing I knew Debra and I were standing in the snow. I don't know what happened to Daisy Mae," she mumbled.

Everman said about half of his passengers were servicemen apparently headed home on Christmas leaves.

Patrick Caldwell, 25, of Hyattsville, Md., who was on his way to Kansas City, gave his account:

"The bus seemed to go into a U-turn. I fell out of my seat onto the floor and the next thing I heard was a crashing, crunching sound. I jumped out a window. Two women standing next to me in the snow seemed to be stunned because one of them asked me if she was a passenger on the bus and the other asked me why she was there. It was really awful."

Ohioans hospitalized as a result of the crash but listed in "fair to satisfactory" condition were Mrs. Hattie Patton, 77, of Logan, and Miss Dorothy Compton, 19, of Sidney.

Mrs. Mabel Barns, of Wellsburg, W. Va., was among the four more seriously injured.

Santa Comes To Mother And Two Tiny Children

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Hope mingled with tears of appreciation today in the eyes of Marie Mackey because a policeman was touched by her plight.

Policeman R. I. Haddix went to the Korean war bride's apartment Sunday after alarmed neighbors reported the incessant crying of children.

"It was terrible," said Haddix. He found the tiny mother cuddling two whimpering little girls, Beverly, 2½, and Judy, 1½. The babies wore only underwear. Marie's husband had been gone four days.

"They hadn't eaten for two days," said Haddix. "She was just resigned to die with her girls."

So Haddix went to a grocer. He had $3.82. The grocer matched it. A customer pitched in. And Haddix left with $10 worth of food.

Police radios buzzed. A captain told his men to give money for his usual present to Marie Mackey and her girls. A cop bought a Christmas tree. Patrolmen took up money in local barrooms. Radio stations took up the cry.

And Marie Mackey watched the parade of gifts come into the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Somers who gave her refuge. Then Sunday night carolers from the First Congregational Church sang of Christmas.

A tear rolled down the cheek of Marie Mackey who had found warm friends far from her native land.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieters Need Food For Strength

At this season, we all yearn for renewed strength and added endurance. Don't try to "diet" this week. Instead swing into a pattern of strength-giving meals.

By Ida Jean Kain

Start your day with an energy-building breakfast. In fact, make sure to eat a good breakfast this week and see the difference it makes in your endurance. Studies have shown that a balanced breakfast, including protein, makes people alert, more efficient, and happier. It isn't difficult to find the reason. The morning meal breaks the fast of a 12-to 14-hour period, and usually begins a forenoon of activity. Dieters particularly should eat a good breakfast since a good morning meal does away with the temptation to eat between meals.

WHAT CONSTITUTES an energy-building breakfast? Fruit juice, or a citrus fruit, a strip of lean bacon and an egg, or two if desired, plus a slice of lightly-buttered toast, and hot coffee. Or have a generous serving of hot cereal served with milk. Total breakfast calores add up to between 250 and 350 calories.

On that meal you can keep going strong until lunch time. If you are shopping, make sure that you stop before you feel weary. Eat an adequate lunch. It will be a mistake to order just soup and a salad. Such fare won't take you far. The hot plate special will stick to the ribs. To curb calories, skip dessert.

Toward the middle of the afternoon, when you can't remember what you had intended to buy for Aunt Susie ... head for home. In fact, it is far better to start home before weariness sets in. Overdoing wastes time, for afterwards it takes longer to recoup your energies.

On arriving home, put the kettle on and have a cup of hot tea and a wedge of cheese; or a cup of hot cocoa made with skim milk and a drop of vanilla.

Perhaps you would prefer a glass of orange juice; or a cup of hot bouillon with gelatine, plus a thin slice of bread, lightly buttered.

KEEP THE PICK-UP within 100 calories. This late-day snack gives a lift when needed and cuts ahead of hunger so you don't feel the need to overeat at dinner.

If you will eat strength-giving food during the active part of your day and keep dinner calories within 400, except on Christmas Day, you will not add pounds during the holidays.

Friends, at this season when routine is abandoned, the danger of slipping into fattening ways is ever-present. Safeguard your strength by eating three good meals a day ... you'll have more energy, not less. And you are not so likely to add pounds.

Tax Forms To Go Out In North Ohio Counties

CLEVELAND (AP)—Here's a note to temper the joy of the Christmas season:

Two million individual income tax payers in 47 northern Ohio counties will receive greetings from the Internal Revenue Service next week. These will be in the form of return sheets on which 1959 income and the resulting tax will be entered.

Melvin J. Burton, district IRS director, said the tax forms will go in the mail so that taxpayers receive them Dec. 28.

33 Prisoners Stage Riot In Missouri Jail

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Prisoners staged one of the worst riots in the history of the Jackson County jail Friday night.

They were subdued after 40 minutes with a fire hose and tear gas.

The 33 prisoners broke four or five bullet-proof windows with a metal mop wringer, stuffed paper in the broken windows and set it afire, smashed their television set, flooded the bullpen, shouted and banged their metal plates on the bars of their cells.

They complained about the food, but Sheriff Arvid Owsley said they may have been aiming at a mass escape from the jail, on the 12th floor of the courthouse.

As Paris Talks End . . .

Everybody Seems Happy

By TOM OCHILTREE

PARIS (AP) — The windup of the Western summit conference today finds each of the four nation's leaders happily convinced that he has scored a personal success.

In their frank exchanges of views President Eisenhower, French President Charles De Gaulle, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer blunted the sharp edges of disagreement within the Western alliance even if they were not able to resolve all their problems.

One result achieved without much trouble was the invitation to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to meet with Eisenhower, De Gaulle and Macmillan in Paris in April. If Khrushchev really desires serious negotiations with the West, it would seem he, too, has reason to be pleased by the weekend talks in Paris, which he must have watched with so much interest.

Ideally, diplomatic negotiations conducted among Allies should make each man feel like a winner. In that sense the Western summit talks were a success even if many tough details were passed on to working groups of experts. Eisenhower was described as highly satisfied with the outcome.

He succeeded, for example, in convincing De Gaulle that the United States supports the French President's plan for settling the Algerian problem on the basis of self-determination after peace is restored.

Eisenhower and De Gaulle were unable to resolve their differences over integration of the North Atlantic alliance's defensive system which France opposes. There was hope in the American camp, however, that this matter ultimately can be adjusted, at least to provide for unifying Western Europe's air defenses.

De Gaulle clearly secured greater consideration for various French views among Western leaders. The Western preference for Paris as the site for the East-West summit next spring also could be regarded as a triumph for the proud French leader.

Macmillan secured agreement from his allies for one of his long-range goals—the move toward a series of summit conferences. Only a few months ago Macmillan alone favored this idea of a chain of summit meetings with each one attempting only limited objectives.

Adenauer was believed to be the happiest of the four. His allies assured him that they would not begin negotiating with Khrushchev on Berlin at the point where the Geneva foreign ministers' conference left off last summer. Now, Adenauer believes, the Americans, British and French will have more line to pay out slowly when they talk with the Soviets about the German and Berlin problems.

The Western foreign ministers proposed some modifications regarding West Berlin at the Geneva conference. But they are not going to start the East-West summit on that same ground. To do so might give Khrushchev too much of an opportunity to try to pry basic concessions out of the West, concessions dangerous not only to the future of West Berlin but to West Germany as well.

Annual Sing Draws 200 At Newell Church

Over 200 attended Newell's 13th annual community Christmas sing Sunday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church.

Soloists were Mrs. John S. McDevitt and Thomas Schneidmiller. Mrs. V. E. McEldowney was chairman. The sing was sponsored by the Women's Club.

Scripture telling the story of Christmas was read by the Rev. Ernest Steele of the First Church of Christ. The Rev. E. D. Crispens of the First Methodist Church offered invocation. The benediction was given by the Rev. O. F. Haynes of the Church of the Nazarene.

Transmissions Seized

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police in nearby Norwood say they have tracked down 23 high speed auto transmissions they say were smuggled out of a General Motors Corp. plant and sold. Police charged Alan Doherty, 33, Covington, Ky., plant guard, and Arthur McCreary, 34, Norwood, with grand larceny, and charged Thomas Smith, Kenwood, bartender, with receiving stolen goods.

Awards Given To Cub Scouts

Ninety-five attended a meeting of Cub Pack 43 Friday night at Pleasant Heights School, when seven boys received awards.

They are: Arthur Radeschi, wolf badge and one-year pin; Michael Casey, gold arrow for lion rank; Harry Brokaw, roundup award, and Robert Charlton and Kenneth Steel, one-year pins.

Mrs. Mary Matheny was presented a den mother's pin. Mrs. Virginia King and Mrs. Constance Brokaw were given den mother's cards.

Fourteen adults were presented training certificates. The boys held a Christmas exchange and were presented a treat. Dens 6 and 7 served refreshments.

Den 6 led the opening ceremony with the flag salute, the Lord's Prayer, Bible reading and a song. John Hill, cubmaster, discussed current and future events. The Blue and Gold banquet is scheduled in February, he said. There will be a bake sale Jan. 30 at the D. M. Ogilvie & Co. store.

Pack 43 qualified for the honor unit award by recruiting 12 new members. A Christmas basket was presented to a needy family and another was given to the Salvation Army for distribution.

Hill asked the boys to send Christmas cards to Everett Moore Jr., who is hospitalized with a kidney condition. The next committee meeting will be Jan. 8 at the home of Mrs. Dolores Charlton on the Y. & O. Rd. at Rock Camp.

Oak Grove's PTA Sees Pupils' Play

Presentation by pupils of a Christmas play, "The Little Blue Angel," highlighted a meeting of Oak Grove Parent-Teacher Association Friday night in the school near Fredericktown.

Miss Elsie Moore was piano accompanist. Lead parts were played by Janet Garey, James Peters, Greg Schultz and Karen Linger. About 150 attended.

Following the play, the audience sang Christmas carols while Santa Claus distributed treats to the youngsters.

Gifts were presented to Miss Moore, Mrs. Mary Ellen Lee and Miss Ruth Mackall, teachers, Mrs. Elsie Berger, cafeteria attendant, and to the school janitor and his wife.

Clarence Wolfe, president, conducted a brief business session. Mrs. Louise Houston was named the next meeting Jan. 26. Program chairmen will include Mrs. Patsy Pancake, Mrs. Gladys Hostetter. Lunch was served by Mrs. Mary Pancake's committee.

60 Attend Holiday Fete Of Palsy Parental Unit

Approximately 60 attended the Christmas party of the Parental Group of the Columbiana County United Cerebral Palsy Association Friday night in the clinic rooms at the Mary Patterson Memorial.

Sixth grade students of Westgate School who presented a puppet show were Ruth Bartley, Sharon Phillips, Suzie Morgan, Pam Chisler and Kim Wetzel.

A large trimmed tree highlighted room decorations. Santa Claus distributed gifts to the children. Carols were sung.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Martha Garren, president, and the social committee. Mrs. Jo Ann Hilliard won a prize.

The next business meeting will be Jan. 27 in the clinic rooms.

Friend's Fine Paid

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — The house of John P. Friend Jr., one-time treasurer of Clermont County, has been sold and part of the money raised paid for his $2,217 fine. That was the report Saturday by county officials after payment of the fine on his conviction on a charge of embezzling county funds. Friend is serving a 1-20 year term at Ohio Penitentiary.

Ex-Gang Leader Loses Parole Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli, a former Toledo gang leader serving a life term for murder, apparently has failed in a second try for commutation of his sentence.

The Pardon and Parole Commission heard his case this month and will recommend against commutation in a report to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Tuesday. DiSalle is expected to follow the recommendation.

Licavoli can be granted another hearing any time in the future. By law, he must be granted another in five years.

Licavoli was convicted of first-degree murder in November, 1934. As leader of a Detroit and Toledo gang, he was accused of ordering the murder of four persons.

A year ago, the State Highway Patrol investigated nine allegations of special privileges granted Licavoli while he was at a prison honor camp in Hocking County. He was returned to Ohio Penitentiary Nov. 9, 1958 and the head of the camp, Lt. Thomas Crowe, resigned.

The patrol report said Licavoli had unauthorized visitors at the camp and that he made unauthorized use of the telephone, thus sustaining two of the charges.

world now holds up on a larger canvas the cherished traditions of liberty and justice for all," the President said.

"No longer are they the Blue and the Gray. All rest together as Americans in honored glory. An era has ended."

Tributes also came from many other public officials, along with messages of sympathy from citizens of all walks of life.

Texas Gov. Price Daniel and South Carolina Gov. Fritz Hollings paid their respects personally. They were here on a weekend visit.

The body lay in a specially designed casket of solid copper tinged with gray. On its velvet inner lining rested five white stars of the honorary rank of general given him by a service organization.

The old soldier will rest in the rotunda of the Harris County Civil Courts building for 48 hours, an honor guard of 4th U.S. Army soldiers at his side.

Federal, state and local governments will pay tribute to him Tuesday night in special services at the Houston Music Hall.

A military procession will escort the body to the South Main Baptist Church for funeral services at 11 a.m. Wednesday. Graveside military rites will be held in the small town of Franklin, Tex., about 125 miles northwest of here.

The processional will include a 25-man fife and drum corps of the Sons of Union Veterans of Mount Vernon, Ohio, birthplace of the composer of the song "Dixie"—one of Williams' life-long favorites.

Williams listed his service connection as a forage master in Company C, Fifth Regiment of Hood's Brigade during the closing months of the Civil War.

He listed his birthdate as Nov. 14, 1842, in Itawamba County, Miss., and came to Texas after the war. He farmed most of his life before moving here to live with a daughter several years ago.

He had more than 200 surviving descendants, including five sons and five daughters.

Angels

Latin translation of the angel song recorded in Luke's Gospel. St. Jerome mentions the use of carols in the Fifth Century.

"Adeste Fidelis," possibly one of the oldest hymns and next to "Silent Night" the most universal, is believed to have been the chant that medieval monks intoned while moving through the darkness of their cloisters to sing the office on Christmas morning.

Other authorities, however, attribute it to John Francis Wade, a music copyist who in 1740 lived at Douay, France, with a group of exiled English Catholics.

Still others credit it to St. Bonaventure, an associate of St. Francis of Assisi, the humble friar who introduced the custom of the Christmas crib at Greccio, Italy, in 1223, using live animals for his stable figures.

Because the crowds who came to see this striking Nativity scene were asked to join in singing, Francis is often called the father of the modern Christmas carol.

Sailors about the time of Columbus' first voyage to the New World began the morning watch on Christmas Day by singing "I Saw Three Ships Assailing," an unusual carol that pictured Christ and Mary arriving by sea at landlocked Bethlehem.

"Good King Wenceslaus," a carol of Swedish or German origin, chronicles and devout doings of a 10th century Duke of Bohemia who was known for his generosity on St. Stephen's Day, the day after Christmas.

"God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen," traditionally the first carol heard in London on Christmas mornings, is believed to be of Welsh origin.

Mozart borrowed the melody for a duet for violin and piano. Charles Dickens' Ebenezer Scrooge had a different reaction. When the carolers bent down at his keyhole to regale him with this cherished favorite, he grabbed his ruler and drove them off.

Down through the ages men of all walks of life have added their voices to the angel chorus.

Carols have been penned by such diverse authors as Sir Walter Raleigh, Mary Queen of Scots, Francis Scott Key, Johannes Brahms (whose immortal "Lullaby" was written as a Christmas hymn), St. Francis Xavier, Martin Luther, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Pope Pius IX and Harpo Marx.

The last mentioned, although a comedian by trade, composed the beautiful music for "Guardian Angels," a carol popularized by the late Mario Lanza and now sung in many churches.

Steel

to the union's figures, provides a 30-cent increase in wages and fringe benefits over the three-year period. Some of the aluminum companies figured the cost as slightly less.

Most of the added cost of McDonald's latest demand is a full cost of living increase under terms of the old contract. This would give steelworkers 3 to 4 cents more an hour starting in January. The Kaiser contract called for a 2-cent increase of this type with no further adjustment until July.

The 500,000 steelworkers struck for 116 days until they were forced back to work Nov. 7 by a government Taft - Hartley injunction. After the injunction expires Jan. 26, they are free to strike again. Wages under the old contracts, which are in force during the injunction, averaged $3.11 an hour last June. The average varies slightly from month to month.

Working Proposal Seen 'Misunderstood'

CLEVELAND (AP)—The proposal on working conditions is the most misunderstood and misrepresented issue in the steel labor-management dispute, Thomas F. Patton, president of Republic Steel Co., said today.

"No one should be thrown out of work by the company's proposal concerning changes in local working conditions," he declared.

In a radio interview broadcast in seven cities where Republic has major installations, Patton said normal turnover in the company, together with Republic's emphasis on retraining and replacing existing personnel on other available jobs, should safeguard Republic employes against the loss of employment through changes in working conditions.

Patton said the working conditions proposal has been wrongly characterized as an attempt to slash jobs, destroy seniority and remove past gains achieved by the union.

"This just isn't so. Our proposal would not injure employes. Instead it would help them because it would help the American steel industry stay competitive," Patton declared.

Company Sets Loans To Help Small Firms

The new president of the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. heads a new Cleveland financial institution which today became the first licensee in Ohio to make business loans with a combination of private and public funds under the federal government's Small Business Investment Act.

James G. Garwick, Director of Region VI of the Small Business Administration, announced that the pioneer licensee in the two-state region consisting of Ohio and Kentucky is the Small Business Investment Co. of Ohio in the Society National Bank Building at Cleveland.

Majority stockholder of the new firm is Daniel G. Richman, Cleveland industrialist and president of Patterson's. The application was filed by the Cleveland law firm of Fuerst, Fisher and Weinberg, as general counsel for the SBIC.

The new company will supply equity capital and long-term loan funds to manufacturing companies throughout Ohio and will begin operation with $300,000 in initial funds.

Richman said his company is prepared to start lending operations immediately and welcomes applications from firms anywhere in Ohio.

"We accept as a privilege and a trust our relationship with the Small Business Administration in making available long-term funds for Ohio small business," Richman said. "Our management group is specialists in engineering, finance, administration, and manufacturing."

The Small Business Investment Act provides that licensees may make loans in two ways. One is by accepting convertible debentures from the borrowing firm which may be converted into common stock of the borrower at a later date. The other type is a long-term secured loan.

Fay Pickens danced and Susan Culp played the piano. A sextent, Linda Baughman, Miss Miller, Miss Malone, Miss Mercer and Susan Paisley, sang.

Mrs. Betty Smith, councilor, was in charge. She was assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Malone and Mrs. Clarence Mercer. The Rev. William Hewitt, pastor, congratulated the group on its work. A gift exchange was held.

Teachers Are Warned Of 'Christmas Payola'

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Teachers here have been warned against students who try to curry favor with "Christmas payola."

Supt. of Schools Cecil I. Rice sent teachers a memorandum indicating they may accept gifts which represent love and respect." But, he added, "if a kid gives you a $50 gift you're going to think a long time before you flunk that kid."

He left it to the teachers to decide which gifts are sincere and which are "payola."

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

'Oz' Recaptures Some Past Magic

"The Wizard of Oz" is pure magic, and I must thank the Columbia Broadcasting System for putting it on the network. It's for children of all ages, as the saying goes, but most particularly for my age.

John Crosby

Here is Judy Garland (not the present, still glorious but slightly battle - scarred Judy), but a 14-year-old fresh - faced, fresh-voiced Judy witn stars in her eyes, singing "Over the Rainbow" as if the words were all new.

Here are the Munchkins singing "In the Merry Old Land of Oz" and Ray Bolger as the Scarecrow singing "We're Off To See the Wizard," and Bert Lahr as the Cowardly Lion singing "If I Were King," and Jack Haley banging his tin body as the Tin Woodman.

BUT, I SUPPOSE a large part of it is the fact that I saw it 20 years ago when it first came out and it gains luster with each passing year.

But what a lot of marveious touches! I'd forgotten how superb were the shots of flat Kansas with its endless lines of marching telephone poles (based on Grant Wood's paintings).

I'd forgotten how great were the composition of those crowd shots of Munchkins and the great mob at the Emerald City and the excitement and sheer opulence of the chase through the witch's castle.

But part of show business — perhaps the greatest part — is what the audience brings to the show — the memory of its own past. (This is what puts the song writers in such a commanding position over writers — they evoke the long ago with a single chord.)

And here it was again — just as it always had been — the past recaptured. The trouble is there aren't many movies quite in that class, or quite that ageless.

It's a lucky thing for television that there aren't. Television — any television — looks awfully prosaic, awfully ordinary, after "Wizard of Oz."

-:-

THE FRANK SINATRA SHOW was a tuneful, though hasty, improvisation, a great credit to the song writers if not to the dialogue writers.

The Sinatra show had been scheduled as "An Afternoon With Frank Sinatra," a relief from all those "Evenings With . . ." It had been scheduled to be shot on the desert at Palm Springs with the mountains as a back screen and the sky as a cyclorama.

Then the rains came and the whole enterprise was shoved indoors with nothing but those chairs and stools which, I must say, I'm finding mighty tiresome.

However, the opening in the desert — everyone scurrying about under umbrellas, and a dance sequence with Juliet Prowse, were salvaged and they were both mighty impressive and unusual.

Under studio lights, though ("What do you think of this handball court?" said Sinatra), the songs took full charge (as they ought to) with Sinatra belting out "I've Got the World on a String," Ella Fitzgerald rocking the set with "Just You, Just Me," the Hi-Los belting "The Desert Song," Sinatra and the Hi-Los collaborating on his first big hit, "I'll Never Smile Again," as he once sang it with Tommy Dorsey, and everyone getting together on a medley of Gershwin songs.

It was all pretty special as singing goes.

It was something less than that as programs go. The comedy, I thought, sounded wooden and unrehearsed. The direction was stiff and unbending. And the introduction of Juliet Prowse, in which she was sung at by Mr. Sinatra, was unfortunate. She's a striking-looking girl, though, and an extraordinary dancer.

I hate to carp like this but I'm just tired of singers and their guests staring at teleprompters in stiff little rows, reading stiff little jokes. I think the performers ought to tear their eyes from the teleprompters once in a while and look at each other. It adds authenticity.

TELEVISED NEWS passed a milestone last week when CBS sent a tape unit clear to India and there on television cameras it recorded Eisenhower's speech at the agricultural fair, his arrival, his triumphant procession in a succession of beautiful carriages.

This is diplomacy by pageantry, I thought, watching it as if it were live television, and let us not underestimate it.

The British used diplomacy by pageantry with crushing effect for many years over great stretches of their empire and while diplomacy by pageantry is not substitute for policy, it is a very great addition to it and should not be altogether forgotten as we Americans are inclined to do.

As for having TV cameras on the spot, bringing us the "teeming populace" all but live, all I can say is that "Eyewitness to History" was exactly what its name implied.

Address Reports Due Next Month By Aliens

Aliens residing in the East Liverpool area were reminded today by Postmaster Samuel W. Brown they must submit address reports sometime in January.

The report blanks must be obtained at the Post Office but will not be available until Jan. 2. When completed, the report forms must be returned to the Post Office by Jan. 31. They are not to be mailed, he emphasized.

The report forms are required yearly from all aliens except for accredited diplomats, persons accredited to some international organizations, and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers.

Aliens who fail to file the reports are subject ot possible fines, jail terms and deportation, Brown warned.

Jaycees Distribute Toys For 260 Children

Toys for 260 children have been distributed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in its annual Toys-for-Tots campaign.

This represents 97 district families. The toys are given to the parents, who may present them to the children on Christmas morning as gifts from Santa Claus. They are distributed according to the age bracket of the individual child.

The project is made possible through contributions and profits from various projects held throughout the year by the Jaycees.

Mark Forssell of Chester R. D. 1 was chairman.

4 Are Found Murdered In Florida Home

OSPREY, Fla. (AP)—A Christmas tree glitters today in an isolated home, but two youngsters will never open the four gaily-wrapped packages beneath the boughs.

An unknown assailant murdered Clifford Walker, his wife, and their two small children Saturday at their rural home.

The bodies of the parents and a 3-year-old son lay on the floor not far from the Christmas tree until discovered Sunday.

Officers theorize the killer was a friend of the family who tried unsuccessfully to rape the mother. They believe the murders occurred when the father and children arrived home from a friend's house.

The victims were Clifford and Christine Walker, both 23, their son, Jimmy, and a 2-year-old daughter, Debbie.

The parents and son had been shot in the head. No murder weapon was found, but three .22-caliber cartridges lay near the bodies.

The girl's body was found face down in a half-filled bathtub, and Sheriff Ross Boyer said the killer apparently held the child under the water until she drowned. The girl also had been shot, officials reported.

Although three persons were taken to Sarasota, 10 miles north of Osprey, for questioning, Boyer said he had no real suspects.

2 City Youth Penalized For Traffic Infractions

Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse at Lisbon have resulted in the suspension of the driving permit of one motorist and the fining of two others.

Roy J. Flowers, 17, of Shadyside Ave., East Liverpool, was fined $15 for failing to stop within the assured clear distance. He was cited by Wellsville Police Chief John Hephner.

Gerald Hamilton, 17, of Salem was fined $10 for driving without a license. He was cited by Constable John Herman of Salem.

The license of Al Sherwood Donnelly, 17, of Canton was suspended for 10 days for passing at an intersection. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol.

Dogs should not be bathed more than three or four times a year, says the American Humane Assn.

Christmas in our neighborhood

Ours is a big neighborhood, covering 12 states from New York to Tennessee, where over 4,000 Ashland Oil outlets are located. Everywhere the neighborhood is bright with Christmas light, and warm with Christmas greetings.

This is a special time for expressing the good wishes of the 4,900 direct employees in the Ashland Oil family and the thousands of others associated with independent Ashland Oil distributors, jobbers and service stations. It's a time to thank all our neighbors for one of the best years in Ashland's history. And above all, it's a time to be reminded that the true measure of our success depends on the friends we make and keep.

We look forward confidently to a New Year blessed with an ever increasing circle of friends.

Trip Turns To Spain

Ike Greeted By Franco

By CARL HARTMAN

MADRID (AP) — President Eisenhower arrived in Madrid today, carrying his mission of peace and friendship to the 10th nation on his 11-nation tour of three continents.

He was greeted by Generalissimo Francisco Franco, who considers this presidential visit a tribute to his steadfast support of the Western allies against communism.

Eisenhower flew in from Paris, where the Western Big Four wound up a top-level meeting with an invitation to Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to a series of summit meetings on cold war issues.

In Madrid, a city always ready for gaiety, the fiesta began Sunday night. Young people sang and flourished noise-makers. Streets were full despite a cold rain.

For days the President's auto route into Madrid from the U.S. air base at Torrejon has been undergoing lavish decoration with flags, portraits and triumphal arches.

Among the thousands of banners there were two of Spain's red and yellow flags for every Stars and Stripes.

In portraits, honors were about equally divided between Franco and his guest. But the President probably took an edge with a picture four stories high in the Plaza de Espana, one of the city's main squares.

For Franco, the visit is among the climaxes in an eventual career. Once Europe's youngest general, he became a leading political figure at 43 when plane accidents removed his two superiors in the 1936 uprising against the Spanish republic.

To Franco, the uprising and the Civil War that followed have always been a part of a crusade against communism.

Partisans of Franco have taken the Eisenhower visit as an American endorsement of his government and his stand against communism over the past quarter of a century.

Man Arrested For Burglary

A Jethro man, on parole for burglary, pleaded innocent today when arraigned in Municipal Court on a charge of attempting to break into an E. 6th St. tavern.

Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw scheduled a hearing at 9 a. m. Thursday for Jesse F. Kent, 730 Leonard St.

Kent was arrested at 2:43 a. m. Saturday in Slygo Alley by Capt. Robert H. Pyle and Patrolmen E. R. Furgason and Charles E. Tice.

Police said Officer Furgason on a foot beat heard glass shattering and notified Capt. Pyle and Patrolman Tice, who were driving on St. Clair Ave.

Furgason entered Slygo Alley from St. Clair Ave. while Capt. Pyle and Tice drove around to Broadway and also entered the dead end alley. The officers said they found Kent standing at the rear of Gene's Bar with the broken glass laying beneath a rear window.

Kent refused to make any statement, police said.

6 Lose Lives In Blaze That Hits Lima Hotel

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Six elderly or middle-aged men were killed in a fire that swept through the upper floor of the two-story Holleran Hotel here Sunday night.

The victims were identified by police as Barney McCloskey, about 50; John Phalen, about 67; Patrick Moran, about 68; Fred McCoy, about 60; Wasil Kierucok, 82, and Thomas O'Day, 80. The hotel catered to railroaders and old-age pensioners.

The remains of two or three of the men were charred badly, while the others apparently were victims of the intense heat and thick smoke that permeated their rooms.

Boy, 11, Leaves Home, But Then Changes Mind

An 11-year-old East End youth, who had left a note for his family telling them he would be back for Christmas, apparently changed his mind and returned home a few hours after police were advised he was missing.

Robert Nott, 920 St. George St., left home about 4 p. m. Sunday and his mother, Mrs. Jean Farnsworth, notified police about 9:45 p. m. that he still was missing. He returned home shortly before midnight, she advised officers.

Smith Puts Down Trumpet

Midland Man Drops Jazz To Resume Teaching Post

F. Allen Smith, a Midland native who had it made in big time jazz, has put down his trumpet to be a fifth grade teacher in San Francisco.

"It's been a conflict for years," Smith told an interviewer at San Francisco as he explained why he gave up a lucrative career as one of the nation's top trumpeters to go back to classroom work.

Now 34, he made his choice last summer to quit "the rat race in New York" and go back to teaching at Burnett Elementary School in San Francisco.

Just a year earlier Smith had left a teaching job to give a full-time inning in his personal career conflict to jazz — with its far bigger cash income rewards.

"I had a lot of friends in New York, and they gave me contacts," reported Smith, whose trumpet work on the Benny Goodman record, "Happy Sessions Blues," is savored by jazz fans.

"I went on tour with Goodman, played with him in that TV 'Swing Into Spring' show, worked as first trumpet in the Roxy Theater pit band, and had a chance to work in night clubs, on movie sound tracks and on recording dates.

"I was lucky," Smith said, "to be able to see all sides of the business.

"New York is a rat race.

"Some people like it. My friend Jerome Richardson loves New York. He works day and night with two or three four-hour recording dates besides his regular job and makes five or six hundred a week.

"But he comes in at 5 a. m. and gets up at 8."

Smith did the same during his time in the New York jazz capital. And he asked himself:

"Is it worth it?"

Smith, who has loved music since he was a boy in Midland, went to San Francisco State College after serving as a Navy bandsman in Hawaii in World War II. He wanted some musical education before taking up his intended fulltime career in jazz.

He finished college in three years and then obtained a teaching credential. That shaped his conflict in careers.

Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Smith, of Stockton, Calif., who formerly lived at 601 Beaver Ave., Midland. Graduate from Midland High School in 1943, he played in the school band.

Relatives in the area include Loma H. Smith, 440 Penn Ave., Midland, an uncle, and Mrs. Lillian Smith Coleman of New Brighton, an aunt.

According to the Midland family, Smith received his first lesson from his uncle on a trumpet which Loma Smith had played as a boy with a band in Buxton, Iowa.

Smith also has a brother, Wayne Smith of San Francisco, who is a folk singer.

London Trip Continued By Walkingest Woman

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Barbara Moore, the world's walkingest woman, still plodded on her way from Edinburgh to London early today after a five-hour rest.

The 56-year-old marathon walker reached Rossington Bridge, Yorkshire, about 185 miles from London, at 5:30 a.m. Police reported she was then "walking pretty fair."

She had covered 215 miles of the 373-mile distance since she left the Scottish city last Thursday.

She trudged past the halfway mark Sunday on blistered feet and said: "I shall be in London by Tuesday to celebrate my 57th birthday."

Officers List Holiday Week Road Hazards

The week between Christmas and New Years is the deadliest time of the year on America's streets and highways, the Fraternal Order of Police Lodge pointed out today in a renewed appeal for unusually cautious driving to help hold down the toll of deaths, injuries and property damage.

Co-operating with other law enforcement agencies throughout the nation, the FOP launched a drive last week to urge motorists to: "Stay Alert, Stay Alive; Make It Coffee When You Drive."

"Fatigue, speed, drinking and carelessness are the four major causes of traffic accidents," Patrolman W. E. McDaniel, secretary of the FOP, cautioned. "Between 6 p. m. and midnight Christmas Eve, they are expected to be responsible for 12 deaths every hour in the United States."

"Driving is particularly dangerous during the festive year-end season, when more parties, late hours, extra shopping and home-for-the-holidays travel are added to the usual problems of traffic and winter weather," he declared. "During the holidays, more than 50 per cent of all fatal traffic accidents involve drinking drivers."

He listed these rules for surviving the holidays on the highways: Obey all traffic regulations, especially speed limits; don't drive when drowsy and don't exhaust yourself by driving too far at one time; on trips stop every two hours for a coffee break, and don't mix the throttle and the bottle."

"Our traffic accident record in East Liverpool has been good so far this year," McDaniel said. "We can keep it that way if everyone will remember these simple suggestions."

More Leadership Called For From Democratic Bloc

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Committee for an Effective Congress says the Democrats in Congress should provide more leadership.

The committee, which calls itself a nonpartisan citizens' group, said Democratic chances in the 1960 elections may depend on the record of next year's Congress. Those chances could be bleak, it added.

With Republicans laying claim to peace and prosperity, the group said that whether any Democrat can be elected to the presidency depends on whether the Democratic-controlled Congress seriously challenges the administration with a program of its own.

The committee, which emphasizes liberal views and "world mindedness," suggested that a special Senate committee be created to "raise the level" of congressional consideration of U.S. strategy.

Deal Will Give New Funds To Pottery Plant

EAST PALESTINE — Officials of the W. S. George Pottery Co. today announced completion of a refinancing arrangment Saturday to provide additional working capital for the firm.

A statement from the company revealed some $150,000 has been extended from "interests from Canonsburg and Washington, Pa." plus additional credit as production demands.

There was no further explanation of the agreement between the financial interests and local officials, but an announcement is expected later this month or in January.

The pottery underwent a refinancing in 1957 when it went into receivership, obtained a Small Business Administration loan and reorganized the stock holding structure, giving local workers and residents voting power.

Today's statement from the firm follows:

"Refinancing arrangements that will provide working capital for the operations of the W. S. George Pottery Co. were completed over the weekend between financial interests from Cannonsburg and Washington, Pa., and local officials of the company.

"President Paul J. Steffens announces that $150,000 has been made available for immediate use with additional credit available as productions reaches a normal level.

"The annual stockholders meeting will be held in January for election of directors and officers.

"Meanwhile plans have been completed for the W. S. George Co. to show at the annual Pottery and Glass Show at Atlantic City the first week in January. They were prepared to offer to the dinnerware trade a newly-designed service plan that has met with approval in several showings to group buyers.

"All patterns will be offered in two set compositions, 20-piece and 27-piece, to sell at popular dinnerware prices. The two compositions make a service for four which can be built into any service desired by merely adding standard compositions."

New-Type Plumbing Fittings Help In Conserving Of Water

CHICAGO — With the problem of water shortage acute in many areas and becoming more serious each year, the plumbing industry has developed special fittings for the purpose of conserving water at the plumbing fixtures.

The special water-conservation fittings cut water waste up to one-half, save hot water and thus reduce the fuel cost of heating water, stretch hot water supplies and reduce overload on waste disposal systems and septic fields.

How the new type of fitting saves water by controlling the water flow is explained by the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

Conventional-type shower heads deliver on the average about eight gallons of water per minute. The average bather showers about five minutes. Total water consumed is 40 gallons.

This much water is costly and unnecessary for adequate showering. The new type of fitting permits the shower head to deliver a maximum of four and one-half gallons per minute, regardless of pressure, yet maintains a satisfactory spray pattern.

Thus the total water consumed with the special fitting is only 22.5 gallons, or a water saving of almost one-half.

The bureau calls attention to the substantial savings effected when all showers in an apartment house, hotel, motel, school, institution or individual residence are equipped with the special fitting. Equally significant is the saving in fuel required to heat this water.

Comparable savings can be effected on lavatories and sinks, the bureau points out, yet the efficiency or utility value of the fixtures is not impaired

Concrete Slab Easy To Make

One of the many things the average man can do around his property with ease is to use concrete. Little skill or technical knowledge is required in making forms, mixing the concrete and curing it properly.

Concrete makes the most lasting kind of repair or replacement and requires no maintenance whatever. When anything is made of this enduring material it will last a lifetime.

Concrete is particularly adapted to the making of platforms at the bottom of steps or stairs, for neat areas on which to coil a hose or to do potting of plants, for splash-mats below leaders or down-spouts, for patios or terraces, for paths or imitation flagstone walks, for curbs and for the base of outdoor fireplaces or barbeques. Its use is almost unlimited.

A simple example of concrete work is in making a plain slab. The first step is to firm the ground if it is not already flat and solid, as would be the case with an established lawn.

The next step is to make a form of wood strip, properly squared and leveled. Next the mix is made of one part of cement, two of sand and three of crushed stone or gravel. This is the old 1-2-3 mix which has been used for many years. The less water used in mixing the better.

When the mix is shoveled into the form it is screeded off by working a straight-edge across the top of the form. Repeated back and forth, this will work up a good smooth surface on the finish work. The slab should be covered with paper or canvas and left undisturbed or used for four or five days.

A good thickness for average work is three inches. Slabs not over 4 by 6 feet require no re-enforcing rods. Old lengths of pipe make excellent re-enforcing for larger areas.

Safer Homes Are Urged

By VIVIAN BROWN
(AP) Newsfeatures

Let's all resolve to have safer homes in 1960.

Many home accidents could be avoided by more foresight on the part of homemakers. Here's a checklist:

Pre-school children and elderly persons are the principal victims of fire in the home, because they cannot cope with the emergencies that arise when they are left unattended.

Children never should be left at home alone and a baby sitter left with them should be reliable and able to face emergencies. She should know where to contact the absent parents and know the telephone numbers of fire and police departments.

FARM children face many dangers that require special precautions on the part of parents.

Farm machinery, tools, chemicals and animals are a particular hazard. Tools should be kept locked up and farm equipment parked out of reach of curious small fry.

Owners of swimming pools should be especially alert to the hazards of an unprotected pool.

Many states require the walling in of swimming pools, but that doesn't always keep out little wanderers. There are safety devices to be investigated. One is an intruder alarm, a bell attachment that fits into the pool. It rings an alarm when anyone falls in the pool or when a certain amount of water is displaced.

A particular danger in the home is the medicine chest and cleaning cabinet. All dangerous medicines, including poisons, aspirin and sleeping pills, should be kept in the most remote place in the house while children are young.

This could be a spot in the tallest cupboard, one not accessible to youngsters. Cleaning fluids and powders should be kept on high shelves. Ditto laundry bleaches.

DO YOU have a bathroom door that when locked from the inside, cannot be opened from the outside?

By the time such a door could be broken down, locked-in Junior could have made a meal on the dangerous items in the medicine chest or fallen out the window. A lock with a push-button on the inside knob is panic-proof in emergencies.

All you do is insert a nail file or knife blade in the slot on the outside knob to open the door.

Other potential hazard areas include the door to the cellar (it should be kept securely locked), the high chair placed under a heavy picture on a wall, spools of thread, roller skates and toys left on stair landings. Baby gates can be dangerous, also, because mother relaxes her watchful eye on baby feeling secure with the gates which are often left open by other people.

License Form Leads To Fine For City Man

An E. 3rd St. man was fined $50 and costs today by Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw today after being found guilty of "knowingly making a false statement on his application for registration" of a car.

The charge against Lawrence E. Mathes, 603 E. 3rd St., was filed by Howard Lisk of Lisbon, an inspector for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Lisk said Mathes was convicted a year ago in Municipal Court for drunken driving. When he applied for registration of a 1952 coupe Aug. 21, Mathes used only his middle name and denied that his license plate registration had been suspended.

Lisk explained when the Bureau of Motor Vehicles suspends a driver's permit it also orders confiscation of license and registration.

A city man was fined and two out-of-state drivers forfeited boonds today for traffic violations.

Billy Joe Douthit of Lisbon St. was fined $10 and costs for speeding on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." about 1 a. m. today.

Jeannette Netherland of Knowles Alley, Chester, and Albert A. McAllister of Beaver each forfeited $111 bonds.

The woman was cited for failing to stop for a stop sign at State St. and the River Rd. Saturday night and McAllister was charged with crashing a traffic signal at Pennsylvania and Dewey Aves. Sunday night.

Meanwhile, a charge against Clyde Hunt, 1069 Locust St., of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated was dismissed Saturday by Judge Brokaw at the request of the solicitor.

Hunt was scheduled to be arraigned this morning but appeared in court Saturday. He originally was cited Nov. 7 on a drunk driving charge but the charge had been reduced to physical control before the request for dismissal.

Potters Rest After Their Third Loss

McKinley Gains 56-44 Win

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

A one-man wrecking crew in the person of Floyd McIlwain, a slender 6-foot-3 cager, cost the East Liverpool Potters their third straight defeat of the season Saturday night at Canton's Memorial Fieldhouse.

With McIlwain doing everything but selling tickets to the game, Canton McKinley spurted in the fourth quarter to gain a 56-44 victory over the road-weary Potters.

Only 1,283 fans watched the second half of a scholastic doubleheader which saw Canton Lehman edge New Philadelphia in the first contest, 42-40.

McILWAIN, a senior on Coach Bup Rearick's five, tossed in 31 points. They represented 14 field goals and three fouls.

He was uncanny from any spot on the floor and East Liverpool found it impossible to stop the lanky cager. His most impressive eight minutes of basketball came in the third quarter when he scored all 11 of his team's points.

It was in the same third quarter that East Liverpool rallied from a 25-15 deficit to tie the score at 32-32 in its battle with McIlwain.

After the deadlock, Canton spurted in the fourth period and it was all over for the Potters.

The Blue and White now will take a welcome two-week rest before traveling to Midland on Jan. 2 for its fourth straight game on the road.

Since knocking off Alliance in the opener at Memorial Auditorium, the Potters have dropped successive decisions to Wellsville, Warren and McKinley. Canton evened its season's mark at 2-2.

—:—

SATURDAY night's contest was almost a repeat of the game played Friday at Warren.

In both frays, East Liverpool rallied to tie the score late in the game, but didn't have enough drive to grab the lead.

Fundamentally the Potters showed imrovement at Canton. East Liverpool was getting good shots again, but not one of the seven players used by Harris could find the range.

Kenny Cunningham was the leading scorer for East Liverpool, but was off his usual pace. He dropped in 13 points.

Phil Chan won a starting berth Saturday, and turned in a very capable performance. Chan, who started in place of junior Kenny Miller, fired in 12 points and was the big spark in East Liverpool's third-period rally.

Ray Bigelow, 6-foot-6 center, had his best night to date with eight points, while Bob Mackall dropped in seven.

McIlwain, who showed a 20-point average per game going into Saturday's contests, was the whole show for the Bulldogs.

He spaced his scoring well, hitting for six points in the first period, seven in the second 11 in the third and seven more in the fourth. He fired mostly soft one-handed push shots, which swished the nets.

—:—

BEHIND McIlwain in the Canton scoring parade was Bill Babics, who contributed 15 points.

Following a 6-6 tie midway through the first quarter, Babics turned in a three-point play and McIlwain scored near the end of the period for a 11-6 edge.

The Potters trailed throughout the second quarter as Canton outscored them 14-9 to take a 25-15 margin into the dressing room at halftime.

Like they had been shot out of a cannon, the Potters tallied eight straight points when the second-half began.

Bob Mackall stole the ball twice and added two buckets and a foul to bring the count to 25-20.

Craig Burbick dropped in his only field goal of the game, then Chan hit on a foul and the Potters trailed 25-23.

McIlwain scored two quick buckets, but Chan hit on his favorite set shot and a foul.

After McIlwain added a foul Chan scored on a set shot then, leading a fast break, tallied the bucket which tied the score at 32-32 with 2:40 remaining in the third quarter.

McIlwain and Bigelow exchanged baskets for another tie at 32-32.

With 1:17, McIlwain scored his fourth and fifth buckets of the quarter to put Canton in front to stay 36-32.

Miller, who entered the Potter lineup for the first time in the third quarter, hit on a push shot at the buzzer and cut Canton's lead, 36-34.

A nine-point spree by McKinley in the fourth quarter broke East Liverpool's back.

Leading, 43-40, the Bulldogs hit on four straight baskets by Babics, Mike Eror, McIlwain and Pukansky. Smith added a foul to send the count reeling 52-40 with only 2:55 remaining in the contest.

East Liverpool lost the services of Bob Mackall who fouled out for the second straight night with 38 seconds remaining.

Celts, Hawks Widen Leads

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks are making runaways of the division races in the National Basketball Assn.

The Celts and Hawks posted a pair of victories each over the weekend to extend their winning streaks and pull further away from the pack in the eastern and western divisions.

Boston stretched its victory skein to 12 Sunday night with a 132-127 triumph over the Syracuse Nats after edging the New York Knicks 119-116 in a nationally televised game Saturday afternoon.

St. Louis boosted its string to five by whipping the Detroit Pistons 102-86 Sunday. The Hawks routed the Philadelphia Warriors 102-89 Saturday night.

As a result of their weekend successes, the Celts own a 6½ game lead over runner-up Philadelphia in the east and the Hawks are 5½ games ahead of Detroit in the west.

In Sunday's remaining game the Knicks snapped a five-game losing streak by downing the Cincinnati Royals 132-118 before a national television audience.

Saturday's other action saw the Minneapolis Lakers romp over Cincinnati 131-113 and Detroit turn back Syracuse 120-112.

Liberty Bowl Start Pleases

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The inaugural Liberty Bowl football game here Saturday could be considered a financial if not an artistic success.

Unofficial figures indicate that Penn State and Alabama each are getting about $105,000. The promoters of the East's first major bowl game broke even or perhaps turned a small profit.

Bud Dudley, who with his partner, George Kerrigan, nursed the Liberty Bowl from a brain storm about three years ago to a live spectacle before 36,211 fans, was enthusiastic about the future of the event.

"It was a wonderful start, better than the first effort of such bowls as the Sugar and Orange," said Dudley. This vigorous man of ideas pointed out that the initial Orange Bowl game drew less than 6,000, while the first Sugar Bowl effort entertained about 25,000.

While Penn State's 7-0 victory was nothing to write home about from the standpoint of thrilling or exciting football, it did prove, at least to Dudley-Kerrigan, that a bowl game in the East is feasible and practical. They foresee new interest by the colleges and fans as the bowl ages.

The one touchdown margin was deceiving. The figures speak the truth in this one. State ran up 319 yards, 278 on the ground against the nation's fourth best defensive team.

Ashcroft Is Selected On All-WPIAL Team

Rich Ashcroft, South Side's brilliant back this past season, has been named to the All-WPIAL Class "B" squad. Ashcroft a senior, led the Rams in scoring with 9 touchdowns for 54 points.

Wellsville Spoils Healey's Spotless Mark In 68-50 Win

Kiggans, Comparetto Prove Offensive Punch

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Wellsville High overcame a shaky first half and turned loose junior sensation Bob Kiggans and Mac Comparetto in the second to topple unbeaten Northwest of Portage County, 68-50, Saturday night.

About 500 fans saw the once-beaten Tigers of Coach Jack McDevitt score their fourth straight victory at the Northwest gymnasium in Canal Fulton.

The loss was the first in seven games for Thomas (Tink) Healey's Northwest Indians, who put up a battle for two periods before weakening under Wellsville's consistent second-half scoring assault.

—:—

WELLSVILLE never trailed, but Healey's fast-moving, "shoot from anywhere" cagers caused a few anxious moments for the Tigers in the first two periods.

But a whirlwind finish triggered by Kiggans and Comparetto carried Wellsville past the all-court pressing tactics employed by Northwest to win going away.

Wellsville had posted a hard-earned 31-21 halftime lead, then built up the margin to 15 points after three periods, 50-35, as Kiggans and Comparetto teamed up to supply the scoring power.

Kiggans, Wellsville's 6-foot, 2-inch inside threat, hit for five quick fielders in the third period and Comparetto dumped in a pair.

The fourth quarter saw the two rangy regulars continue to score unchecked by the smaller Northwest starters. Wellsville's lead had zoomed to 20 points, 64-44, when McDevitt began substituting freely.

KIGGANS finished in the 20-point range for the second consecutive game, netting 26 on 13 field goals and one foul. Held scoreless in the first period, he flipped in 10 points in the second, 10 more in the third and six in the fourth.

Comparetto, a 6-foot junior figured for the role of a "sixth man" this year for the Tigers, proved his ability to handle a starting assignment by whistling 19 points through the nets.

He hit for seven fielders and five of nine free throws. His string of consecutive foul shots was snapped at 17 when he missed an attempt in the first quarter. He shows 24 of 31 free throws made for five games.

"I knew we had to shoot a lot to beat them as we lack the necessary height for Wellsville," Healey commented after the game. The Indians did shoot a lot as reflected in final statistics. They attempted 73 and made 21 for an average of 26 per cent.

Most of Northwest's shots came from the outside as Wellsville's superior height forced "hurry-up" tactics.

Northwest previously had chalked up six straight victories over Beach City, Green, Brewster, Marlington, Lake and Manchester —most of which perform in the Portage County Class A league. The Indians, however, will perform in Class A tournament competition.

Wellsville's three other starters appeared confused by Northwest's pressing defense and none of the trio finished in the double figures. Milton Lamp, 5-8 senior guard, collected eight, center Franklin Jackson got three and forward Phil Baldwin five.

AS FAR AS hustle and determination were concerned, Bill DeSarro, a substitute guard, easily led the Tigers in that department. The 5-foot, 5-inch senior played less than one quarter of action but was a hawk on defense. He finished with three points, while guard Ray Franklin got four.

The outside shooting of Jerry May, 5-10 guard, and Bud Treisch, about as small, kept Northwest's scoring attack moving. Both finished with 12 points. Terry Sense also scored 12 points, with eight coming in the second half.

Wellsville, jittery in the first quarter, got off to a 2-0 lead on Comparetto's jump shot in the opening minute. May countered for Northwest on another jumper after the Indians had missed on their first five field goal attempts. The battle grew tighter as the quarter unfolded and Northwst battaled to an 11-11 tie as it ended.

Kiggans drilled a layup and added a clever left-handed "bunny" shot as the second quarter opened. Following a goal by Aman of Northwest, the Tigers proceeded to score eight straight points and ran their lead to 23-13 before Just converted a foul for the Indians.

The Tigers sank 11 of 31 shots in the first half, which ended 31-21. Kiggans connected on a flurry of drive-in shots and jumpers from the foul circle to spearhead Wellsville's drive to a 50-35 third quarter lead. Comparetto's accurate shooting on jump shots and Kiggans' offensive chores from the inside helped the Tigers pull away to a 20-point lead with about 2 minutes left.

—:—

NORTHWEST faces a return engagement with the Tigers Feb. 20 at the Wellsville gymnasium. Wellsville is now idle until after the Christmas holidays, meeting Toronto in its next game Jan. 8 at Beacom Memorial Gym.

In the preliminary, Coach Carl Firm's Wellsville reserves spurted in the final period to nail their third victory of the year, 68-53, over Northwest's reserves.

The Tiger Jayvees led by only two points, 42-40, after three periods, but forged ahead on the scoring of Ben Cannadate, 5-10 junior, Rick Gray, 5-6 guard, and Jerry McCloud, 6-3 sophomore.

Cannadate had his best night in reserve action for the campaign in scoring 20 points. Gray bagged 19 and McCloud 12.

Miller's 15 points sparked the Northwest reserves.

27 Tournaments To Keep Collegiate Cagers On Go

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The nation's cage-conscious colleges will be up to their ears in basketball during the long holiday spell starting Saturday. There will be no fewer than 27 tournaments and they will be played in every section of the country.

Greatest interest, from the fans' viewpoint, should stem from New York and Los Angeles, which will hold separate eight-team Holiday Festivals featuring some of the top quintets of the nation.

New York's Madison Square Garden boasts unbeaten Cincinnati with its great Oscar Robertson, regarded as perhaps the outstanding college player today. The new Los Angeles' Sports Arena will highlight unbeaten West Virginia, winner of the recent Kentucky Invitation, with it's All-America Jerry West.

The New York Festival, eighth of its kind, starts Saturday and will extend through Wednesday, Dec. 30. The Los Angeles Festival, its first, runs from Monday through Wednesday.

Other top flight tournaments include the Far West Classic at Corvallis, Ore.; Big Eight at Kansas City; Southwest at Houston; All College at Oklahoma City; Blue Grass at Louisville; Sugar Bowl at New Orleans; Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N.C.; Hurricane Classic at Miami; and Queen City at Buffalo.

Six currently undefeated teams are entered in the two Festivals. In addition to Cincinnati, the New York unbeatens are Dartmouth and New York U. The pairings list Manhattan (4-1) vs. St. Joseph's of Phila. (5-1), Iowa (5-1) vs. St. John's of Brooklyn (5-2), NYU (5-0) vs. Dartmouth (2-0) and Cincinnati (5-0) vs. St. Bonaventure (2-2).

Illinois and California, the defending national collegiate champion now riding a 21-game winning streak, join West Virginia in the Los Angeles unbeaten contestants. The pairings are Southern California (3-2) vs. Northwestern (2-2) West Virginia (8-0) vs. Stanford (3-1), UCLA (3-4) vs. Michigan (1-3), and California (5-0) vs. Illinois (4-0).

Cincinnati and West Virginia must be ranked 1-2 in the nation, followed by California, Ohio State (6-0) and Bradley (6-0). The Bearcats of Ohio smashed a highly rated Louisville team 97-74 Saturday night. Cincinnati has a Tuesday home date with Bradley before moving to New York for the tournament.

West Virginia, whipped Kentucky 79-70 to capture the Kentucky Invitation Saturday.

California won its 20th and 21st straight by beating Colorado, 51-47, on Friday and 79-46 on Saturday.

Utah has three games this week before competing in the Dixie Classic Dec. 28. Others in that tournament include Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Wake Forest, Dayton, Holy Cross and Minnesota.

West Suffers Broken Nose In Title Game

Jerry West, the All-American from West Virginia who scored 33 points against Kentucky Saturday night, suffered a broken nose in the first half of the contest. West paced the Mountaineers to the Kentucky Invitational tourney championship.

Cincy And OSU Cagers To Face Rugged Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Basketball activity will be relatively light this week as most Ohio teams begin a holiday respite.

But the Buckeye State's Big Two, Cincinnati and Ohio State, continue their push toward a national championship against some classy opposition.

Unbeaten Ohio State (6-0) probably is in for its toughest test of the young season when Coach Fred Taylor's Buckeyes tangle with red-hot Utah. The Utes, sporting an unsullied record, are rugged enough under normal circumstances but twice as potent on their home court.

If the Bucks get by this one, they'll have to contend with Brigham Young on Tuesday, but the Cougars appear too small and inexperienced for the likes of Ohio State.

Cincinnati (5-0), fresh from a surprisingly easly triumph over highly-touted Louisville Saturday, clashes with undefeated Bradley Tuesday in the Missouri Valley opener for both.

Something's got to give in this one. The Braves are loaded, as usual, but the Bearcats have a feller by the name of Oscar Robertson who could be the difference.

The "Big O" dropped in 39 points Saturday and displayed some other basketball magic as Cincinnati routed the Cards, 97-74, before 16,500 in Louisville's Freedom Hall.

Cincinnati journeys to New York Saturday to participate in the Holiday Festival Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

In top games last Saturday, Dayton boosted its record to 5-1 with a 60-48 win over The Citadel. Gary Roggenburk tallied 22 and retrieved 13 rebounds to pace the Flyers.

Xavier (4-1) bounced Seattle, 86-65, behind soph Jack Thobe's 27 points and 14 rebounds.

Unbeaten Steubenville grabbed victory No. 4, whipping Western Illinois, 85-62, as John Blanda hit for 26 points.

Ohio University dropped its third straight, a tough 85-79 loss to Illinois. Mount Union trounced Waynesburg, 100 - 61, Lawrence Tech trimmed Otterbein, 104-88, St. Francis (Pa.) walloped Youngstown, 102-66, and Gannon tripped Baldwin-Wallace, 73-62.

In the Ohio Conference, Akron belted Muskingum, 74-58, bouncing the Muskies from first place. Idle Wittenberg moved into the loop's top spot.

The unbeaten Tigers (5-0) may run into a buzzsaw Wednesday when they travel to Louisville to play the Cards. Tonight, Miami faces Miami (Fla.) in a holiday doubleheader at Fort Wayne, Ind., and Wittenberg hits the road Saturday to play in the Evansville Ind., tourney.

Baltimore's Fans Brave Weather In Battle For Tickets

BALTIMORE (AP) — Some 500 Baltimore Colts fans proved their loyalty by spending Sunday night in sub-freezing weather outside Memorial Stadium.

As dawn approached, the hardy group of all-night campers was joined by thousands more seeking tickets for the National Football league championship game between the Colts and New York Giants here next Sunday.

About 7,000 general admission tickets went on sale at 9 a.m. with a limit of two to a customer.

While their fans were fighting the battle of the ticket line, the Colts rested Sunday and today.

Pro Grid War Grows Hotter

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The new pro football league was confronted today with a fresh challenge in Minneapolis-St. Paul by loyalists of the National League and a man from out of the sport's frontier days.

"If the National League extends us a franchise we expect to be operating in 1960," said Ole Haugsrud, Duluth sportsman and tobacco wholesaler who owned the Duluth Eskimoes in the NFL more than three decades ago.

With his $25,000 earnest money check to league headquarters went an application that bore the signature, among others in the combine, of Ernie Nevers of San Francisco, one of football's all-time greats and a member of the old Eskimoes.

Haugsrud's application, and the apparent encouragement it received from several NFL owners, signaled another collision between forces of the National League and the new American Football League over the Twin Cities territory.

The AFL evidently is set to operate here. H. P. Skoglund, part owner of the Minneapolis-St. Paul AFL team, said "We intend to go right down the line with the American League no matter what happens."

Reports that he and fellow owners might be planning a shift to the NFL themselves have no foundation, he said.

Haugsrud said he has talked with seven or eight National League owners and was advised to make his application. "I was told the National League definitely will add two teams in 1960," he said.

An estimated million dollars would be needed to get an NFL team going in the Twin Cities, Haugsrud said. He claimed to have enough backing from area businessmen to raise the money.

In Philadelphia, acting NFL Commissioner Austin Gunsel said the application by Haugsrud's group would be considered along with others at the league meeting next month.

Satellites To Appear At Midland Wednesday

The Harlem Satellites and College All-Stars will clash in an exhibition game Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Midland gym.

The contest is being sponsored by the Tuscan Club of Midland.

Led by Rookie Brown, the Satellites perform on the same order as the Globetrotters.

The All-Stars will be comprised of players from district schools.

Brown is a former Harlem Globetrotter star. Known as the "master clown of the Satellites," Brown averaged 16 points per game last season.

Brown also played the leading role in the movie "The Harlem Globetrotter Story."

The Satellites list former college stars in Jim Dew, a 7-foot-1 performer from Alabama State College, along with Bill Matthews, who played three years of varsity competition at Tennessee State College.

Last season the Satellites turned in a record of 211 wins and four defeats.

In addition to the game, novelty acts will be featured at halftime. Carl Lacey, Tuscan Club president, is chairman of the event.

Cuban Boxer Gets Chance Wednesday Against Hart

By The Associated Press

Cuba's Luis Rodriguez, who may be the best welterweight contender in the world, will get his chance to present his case Wednesday night.

The unbeaten, 22-year-old boxer-puncher, now ranked the No. 2 challenger to welterweight champion Don Jordan, faces slick Sugar Hart of Philadelphia in a television (ABC 10 p.m., EST) 10-rounder at the Miami Beach (Fla) auditorium.

Rodriguez (24-0) has swept past Rudell Stitch, Larry Baker and Isaac Logart in his last three fights. Seventeen months ago in Havana he stopped Charley Scott in nine rounds and today Scott is ranked top contender. Scott, however, is due for a demotion following his upset loss to Benny (Kid) Paret last Friday night.

It was the same Scott who scored a ninth round technical knockout over Hart at Philadelphia last Oct. 19. Scott became the No. 1 contender, and Hart, who had been first, was dropped to third behind Rodriguez. Hart's record is 28-4-2.

In another important welterweight bout, in Havana, Cuba, Wednesday night, Cuba's Florentino (Ox) Fernandez and Filipino Rocky Kalingo clash in a return 10-rounder.

Kalingo, an in - and - outer, startled the boxing world and Fernandez by knocking out the previously undefeated Cuban in the first round at Caracas, Venezuela, last month. Fernandez had won 22 straight and was being boomed for a title fight.

Olmedo Is Beaten By Hoad In Debut

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Alex Olmedo has had his baptism under fire on the professional tennis circuit and, he reported today, things are bound to get better.

Lew Hoad of Australia whipped him, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 Sunday, and Olmedo, ex-U.S. Davis Cup ace by way of Peru, showed signs of rustiness.

"I enjoyed it, though," said Olmedo. "Lew was real good and I think he's improved a lot since his amateur days.

"I would have played better, too, but it was the first big match I've played in three months. I needed the competition and should do better."

Promoter Jack Kramer, who signed Olmedo three weeks ago for a $35,000 first year guarantee, was happy with the performance.

"Alex hasn't played a tough match for a long time," he said. "I thought he really did well considering that it was his first match."

A crowd of 5,000 turned out in the White City Stadium. Kramer billed it as an international test between the U.S. and Australia.

After dropping the singles to Hoad, Olmedo teamed with Pancho Gonzales in the doubles. They turned back Hoad and Ken Rosewall 6-4, 6-4. Gonzales won the other singles match, cutting down Rosewall, 6-2, 6-4.

Star bowler Eddie Lubanski of Detroit won 23 games pitching for Wausaw in the Wisconsin State League in 1948.

Bluebonnet Bowl Passes First Test

HOUSTON (AP) — The infant Bluebonnet Bowl's first effort is on the books and sponsors hope its only the first of many.

They point to the crowd of 55,000 which jammed all but the corner sections of the 70,000-seat Rice Stadium for the Texas Christian-Clemson clash — two teams which held little immediate appeal to southeast Texans.

The attendance figure broke the bowl inaugural record of 28,000 set by the Sugar Bowl in 1935—as did the Liberty Bowl's Penn State - Alabama match several hours earlier.

Houston enjoyed perfect football weather with the mercury in the high 50s, clear skies and a light north wind. And Clemson enjoyed taking TCU into camp, 23-7.

Elvin Smith, pipeline executive and president of the Greater Houston Bowl Assn., earlier estimated the two schools would get about $80,000 each for the day's work.

Mike Graney, Notre Dame basketball captain, led last year's team with 337 rebounds but had a scoring average of only 10.3 points per game.

Pete Elliott Seen In Line For Grid Coach At Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Pete Elliott, former Michigan star and football coach at California for the past three years, appears ready to take over the head coaching job at Illinois.

Elliott was interviewed in Champaign Saturday night by Illini officials and on his return to San Francisco Sunday he said there is a "strong possibility" that he will become Illinois' coach.

Elliott and Dave Nelson, head coach at Delaware, have long been regarded the top choices to succeed Ray Elliot.

Elliot stepped aside at the end of the 1959 season to become assistant athletic director after coaching the Illini for 18 years.

Nelson, 39, a Michigan graduate who gained football fame as a strategist and helped devise the wing-T offense, was considered the top candidate a week ago. However, Nelson's name has not been as prominent the past few days.

Illinois Athletic Director Doug Mills Sunday said Elliott's interview was routine and that half a dozen other candidates have been interviewed in the same manner.

Mills has managed to keep secret the names of those interviewed, with the exceptions of Elliott and Nelson.

Elliott, 33, said his weekend meeting with Illini officials was a followup of an earlier session with Mills in Denver.

"We met to talk things over in greater detail," he said. "They got to know me and I got to know what they had in mind. Any further comment will have to come from Illinois."

High School Actor Proves Real Trouper

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP) — Robert Forrest is only a high school actor, but he's proved himself a trouper in the best Broadway tradition.

A few hours before the Middlebury Union High School senior class play, "Our Town," was to go on, Robert's mother died at Porter Hospital.

But when the curtain went up on "Our Town," young Robert was there in his role as Simon Stimson.

Needs Of A Kindergarten Are Great

By Garry Meyers

Free kindergartens, as part of a regular school system, have not fared well. In recent years they have been added in very few places. Many cities that once had public kindergartens have lost them. Hence many kindergartens charging tuition for children four or five years old and occasionally younger, have sprung up. Usually they are carried on at considerable sacrifice to the dedicated people who direct them and teach in them. Obviously they are out of the reach of children whose parents are of low income. Even those parochial schools which are adding kindergartens have a hard time raising adequate funds to reach children of lower economic levels. The same holds true for kindergartens run by certain individual churches, chiefly Protestant — though their usual aim is to make them community-wide. Most Sunday Schools, of course, have a free preschool department open to all children as young as two.

MISS MAMIE W. Heinz's book, "Growing and Learning in the Kindergarten" (John Knox Press), should interest church leaders who wish to establish a church weekday kindergarten for children of four or five.

She states that such a school should be free and open to all children of these ages if there are no kindergartens in the public schools, and should run right along with the Sunday School kindergarten.

She says that this weekday school should be financed by the congregation of the church in which it is held, and that it should be begun only when the need has been determined; when enough children have been enrolled; when a plan for adequate finances has been adopted; when adequate indoor and outdoor space has been provided; when health and safety standards have been met; when suitable supplies and equipment have been guaranteed and when qualified teachers and assistants have been secured.

OFTEN THERE are lovable dedicated persons with little or no professional training who are willing to serve at little or no pay and who may induce their church to start a weekday kindergarten. In the long run, such an enterprise could do more harm than good.

Also there are some gifted persons with inadequate or adequate training, who, without sufficient funds, decide to start a free or tuition kindergarten. Some struggle along at great personal sacrifice; others give up in despair. They might have been saved from the tragedy had they read "Growing and Learning in the Kindergarten".

My bulletins, "Letting Baby and Tot Learn" and "Tot Learning to Be Sociable," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

3 City Marine Home On Christmas Leaves

Three city Marines are spending Christmas leaves with their parents, according to Sgt. Robert J. Barnes, local Marine Corps recruiter.

Pvt. Clark Hager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jones, 443 W. 8th St. and Pvt. David R. Deyarmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Deyarmon, 929 Florence St., are spending 10-day leaves at home.

Pvt. Marvin J. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Anderson of Shadyside Ave., is spending a 20-day leave after completing 4 weeks of advanced training at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Mental Needs Linked With Past Failures

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jay W. Collins, who recently completed a statewide survey of Ohio's mental institutions, says "conditions today are the direct result of the failure of the leadership of yesterday."

He spoke Sunday at the Newton D. Baker Health Center to a meeting of the Parents Volunteer Assn. for Retarded Children.

Collins, director of the Euclid-Glenville Hospital, said he was "indignant" over assertions that failure to approve enough taxes was responsible for the mental hospitals falling into such poor shape.

"It was not the failure of the citizens of Ohio," he said, "but the failure of the leaders to make known or even to recognize the needs which existed."

Collins said conditions have improved in the last six months and "they will continue to improve in each six months from now on."

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle drew high praise from the speaker. "I'm a Republican," said Collins, "but I believe the Democratic governor is sincere. He's a great man. You can pin your faith on him in this matter."

Irondale Stages Treat

IRONDALE — American Legion Post 655 and volunteer firemen played Santa Claus Friday night and presented treats to over 150 area youngsters. Hot chocolate and cookies were served in the post home.

Car Is Damaged As Bomb Goes Off

CLEVELAND (AP) — A bomb placed under the hood of an automobile—but believed not large enough to cause phsyical damage to the driver—exploded 10 minutes after a 40-year-old woman parked the vehicle in Shaker Heights Sunday.

The explosion twisted the hood and split the radiator of the car owned by the president of a general contracting firm.

Shaker Heights Police Chief Horley M. Benethum said the bomb probably was the work of a juvenile, a crank or a third person acquaintance of Miss Alberta M. Blum, the woman who parked the car, and William J. Schirmer, owner of the car.

Schirmer, president of the Schirmer-Peterson Co., the general contractor for the Cleveland Stadium and the outpatient building at Metropolitan General Hospital, was at a party Saturday night with Miss Blum.

She drove him home, then took the car to her house. She planned to pick up Schirmer for church services in the morning, Miss Blum said.

Police said Schirmer was divorced in 1939. Miss Blum is a secretary at the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. She was placed under sedation after the explosion and was not available for comment. Schirmer also was unavailable to discuss the incident.

However, Charles F. Schirmer, a brother and an official of the building firm, commented on the bomb:

"I am sure it is not a labor dispute. We have never had any union trouble."

The Wrong Man

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Two men picked the wrong customer when they tried to sell fake lapel pins bearing the stamp, "Sold by a disabled veteran." The intended customer was John J. Johnson Jr., commander of the Phoenix Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans.

Shah Takes Third Wife In Quest For Male Heir

By JOSEPH DYNAN

TEHRAN, Iran —Prietty young Farah Diba became the new Queen of Iran today amid hopes that she will provide a son and heir for the throne.

With radiant smiles the 21-year old brunette with brown eyes and light olive complexion married Shah Mohammed Rezi Pahlevi in a Moslem ritual in the marble palace.

She thus became Queen Farah Pahlevi.

It was the first marriage for the young Iranian commoner, who until recently was a student in architecture in Paris. It was the third marriage for the Shah, who at 40 still hopes for a son to succeed him.

The couple sat and stood through a Moslem ceremony and the signing of the marriage contract in the glittering Hall of Mirrors. Members of the family, members of the government and their wives and the diplomatic corps of Teheran look on.

The bride wore a flowing bluish, pearl gray wedding gown. Farah forsook the traditional white in favor of a shade specially designed for her by Yves Saint Laurent, head of the Paris house of Dior. The shade is just a bit off white in pearl grey with a slight tinge of blue.

The Shah wore a full ceremonial dress of dark imperial blue trousers and a navy blue coat covered with medals.

The capital was in a gay, festive spirit. Flags flapped in the breeze. Many buildings were decorated with bunting and the national colors.

The Shah divorced his first two wives because they failed to bear him an heir to the throne. The first wife, an Egyptian princess, bore him a daughter, Princess Shanaz.

He divorced Queen Soraya 20 months ago after a childless but obviously happy marriage. The red-haired Iranian beauty now lives in Europe.

Speaking to newsmen Sunday, the Shah explained that aside from human reasons, he is marrying Farah for reasons "of a monarchial order." Iran's constitution requires that the successor to the throne be a male, and the Shah has no son.

The throne itself is ancient and rich in history—but the Shah's family is not. His father, Reza Khan, was a rough army officer who seized power in 1921 and had himself crowned Shah - in - Shah (King of Kings) four years later.

A shah without an heir is obviously not as secure as a monarch whose line of succession is clearly fixed. The Shah himself has openly acknowledged the possibility of assassination. The absence of an heir in such a situation would be an invitation to political chaos.

Nehru Snubs Chou Bid For Border Talks

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru today rejected Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's offer to meet this week on the India-China border dispute.

The Indian leader told Parliament that he had replied to Peiping that preliminary discussions would be necessary to make a top-level conference worthwhile.

Chou had suggested in a letter a week ago that Nehru meet him next Saturday either in China or Rangoon, Burma, to discuss in detail the conflicting border claims.

The Chinese Premier had proposed both countries withdraw their forces 12 miles from their present positions — a move that would leave the Communists still in control of thousands of miles of territory claimed by India.

Nehru described Chou's proposal as "merely a reiteration of claims to extensive areas in our territory." He called on Peiping for a fuller explanation of Chinese claims before meeting with Chou.

The Indian Prime Minister said "I do not see how any agreement can be reached" so long as the basic positions are not clarified.

50 Vie In 'Shoot'

LISBON — Fifty shooters vied for 21 prizes in the Columbiana County Fish and Game Association's final turkey and ham shoot Sunday afternoon, Secretary R. T. Mason reported. Practice trap shoots will be held each Saturday afternoon as long as weather permits.

Santa Gives Treat At Chester's Fete

Santa Claus distributed 1,200 candy bars and 1,200 popcorn balls from atop the Chester fire truck in a tour of the community Saturday afternoon, according to volunteer firemen, who sponsored the annual treat. Santa also visited some 20 shut-in youngsters.

Santa was unable to make a proposed visit at the Lawrenceville fire station Saturday for the annual treat sponsored by the American Legion Post 163 and auxiliary, but will be present this afternoon from 2 to 4. Post officials said they were unable to locate someone to play the role until today.

About 200 youngsters of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church were feted in the annual treat Sunday afternoon at the school hall. The Sacred Heart Guild and Catholic Ladies Guild were sponsors. Gifts were presented to Fr. Robert Rooney and Fr. Eugene Jacobs and to the four catechism teachers.

Mrs. Clarence Harrington accompanied group singing.

Man, 32, Injured In W. 4th St. Fall

A Shadyside Ave. man, hurt in a fall, was admitted over the weekend to City Hospital, where two adults and a youngster were treated after separate mishaps.

Harold Moorehead, 32, of Shadyside Ave. is in "good" condition today with lacerations of the eyebrow and nose received Saturday night in a fall while walking on W. 4th St. Ext. He was taken to the hospital by police.

Mark Mills, 2, son of Pvt. and Mrs. Regis Mills, 910 St. Clair Ave., was treated Sunday for an injury of a hand which became caught in a closing auto door.

Mrs. Bessie Brown, 1560 Pennsylvania Ave., was treated Saturday for an injury of the right leg received in a fall down steps.

House By Side Of Road Faces Sale For Claims

CANDIA, N.H. (AP)—The statutes are written in more severe meter than that employed by the late poet Samuel Walter Foss, who penned:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road
"And be a friend of man."

That house, Foss' birthplace and inspiration of the often quoted lines, faces sale—to satisfy claims of the State Welfare Department.

The last occupant-owner, a widow of 90, died a year ago.

Foss died about 50 years ago.

The Welfare Department had met taxes and repairs, but the property—a two-story farmhouse and extensive farm buildings on some 20 acres—has deteriorated extensively. The department seeks $2,000.

No heir has put in a claim for the property which has a far higher estimated value than the amount of the lien.

Completion Seen Near On Chester's Ice Rink

Installation of two flood lights and flooding of Chester's new City Park ice skating rink may be completed later this week, according to Mrs. Agnes Huff, president of the Junior Women's Club, sponsors of the rink project.

Mrs. Huff said wide strips of plastic have yet to be laid at the rink to prevent undue seepage of water when the area is flooded by the firemen. The excavation work has been completed by the Cornell Excavation Co.

Mother And Baby Die After 'Coma' Delivery

NEW YORK (AP)—Mary Materasso, 27, died Sunday without ever knowing she had given birth to a daughter. The baby died Saturday.

Mrs. Materasso had been in a coma at Misericordia Hospital for a week after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage at her Bronx apartment. Thursday doctors delivered a premature baby while the woman remained unconscious in an iron lung.

Quadruple Amputee Awaits His First American Yuletide

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 24-year-old private — a quadruple amputee from Peru—arrived here from Washington Sunday night to spend his first American Christmas.

Bubbling with excitement was Pvt. Cesareo Acosta - Alvarez, accompanied by Airman Newton D. Baker. Both were patients at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington where they became firm friends since Acosta arrived from Peru last August.

For the next 16 days, Pvt. Acosta will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Fesco, in suburban North Olmsted. Airman Baker is Mrs. Fesco's brother.

"This was his first train trip," said Baker, who speaks spanish fluently. "Cesareo was impressed with the speed of the trains. He really enjoyed it."

Acosta lost his limbs when a 37 mm. shell exploded in his hands during training exercises with the Peruvian army in 1956.

"Cesareo always has a smile on his face from the minute he gets up in the morning until he goes to bed at night," said Baker. "I haven't seen determination like his in all my 18 years in the Air Force."

Mrs. Fesco said she worried that Cesareo wouldn't come. She explained that every time he called, he would ask: "Do you really want me to come? Do you really."

"We had to assure him it would be wonderful for him to visit," said Mrs. Fesco, adding:

"If we can make Cesareo happy, what better way can we spend the Christmas holiday season."

Heart Surgeon Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Aaron Himmelstein, 45, heart surgeon whose research played a role in the 1956 award of a Nobel Prize to two American doctors, died Friday after an operation for a brain tumor.

Peter Townsend Weds Daughter Of Tycoon

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Princess Margaret's onetime suitor, Peter Townsend, was married in Brussels today to Marie-Luce Jamagne, 20, daughter of an Antwerp tobacco tycoon, a friend of Townsend reported.

The friend said the ceremony was performed at noon.

The engagement of Townsend, 44, and Marie-Luce, his secretary, was announced by her mother Oct. 9.

Townsend's romance with Princess Margaret broke up four years ago. He had been divorced. The Church of England forbids marriage of a divorced person so long as the other party to the divorce is living. The former Mrs. Townsend is living and Princess Margaret bowed to the rule.

Atlas Missile Hits Target 6,325 Away

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —An Atlas intercontinental range missile registered its second successful full-range flight Friday night, streaking 6,325 miles to a target off the South Atlantic island of Ascension.

The launching came just one year after another Atlas was fired into orbit and broadcast President Eisenhower's famous Christmas peace message.

The Air Force announced Friday night's Atlas achieved all its test objectives and dropped a dummy warhead on an ocean target as planned. The last time an Atlas flew its full range was on Nov. 28, 1958.

Suit Seeks $34,928 For Traffic Damages

LISBON — A suit for $34,928 damages has been filed in Common Pleas Court as an aftermath of a traffic accident Dec. 30, 1958.

Fred Rehfuss of Youngstown and E. Brooke Matlack, Inc., of West Chester, Pa. named Carl B. Geissenger of New Brighton, Edward Horn of Beaver Falls and the Sunnyside Coal Co. of East Palestine as defendants.

The plaintiffs claim a coal truck driven by Geissinger came out of road to the coal company on to Route 7 and struck their tanker truck, causing a loss of 6,700 gallons of fuel oil and use of their tractor and trailer for 120 days.

Youth Kills Dad Who Beat Mother, Threatens Infant

CINCINNATI (AP) — Norman New, 16, is a thin, pale youngster who didn't go to school because he had to stay home and care for his four-month-old sister.

Early Sunday Norman with his 20-gauge shotgun killed his father, Osborne New, 39, in the living room of their second-floor apartment, police said.

Later, Norman tried to talk about the early - morning nightmare as he sat in the Youth Center, where he was held. His mother, Mrs. Onie New, sat beside him.

"I don't know if I done the right thing or the wrong thing," he blurted. "Whatever I done, I'll pay for it."

Eyes red-rimmed and hands trembling, Norman told how he got out of bed around 2:30 a.m. to find his father beating his mother and threatening the life of the baby, Leona, as she lay in her cradle.

"He was mean drunk," the boy said. "He had been drinking beer at home all day. He had just went to the saloon to get six more cans.

"I was in bed in the next room and my sister (Betty, 10) woke me up. She said 'Get up he's beating on Mom and he says he is going to kill the baby.'

"I heard Mom yell. He was leaning over reaching for the baby. He said he would whop it against the wall and kill it. He knocked the television set over."

Norman said he went back to his room to get the gun. He had bought it for hunting, using the $5 a week his mother paid him for baby-sitting. He loaded it.

"I thought I could hold it on him and tell him to quit," he said. "I sure didn't think I would use it. The gun just went off. It just went off . . ."

Norman sobbed. His mother, a small, slender woman of 38, patted him on the back. Her face showed no expression.

Santa and the ICE KING

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

Synopsis: Santa and Oonik have discovered that the reason the Ice King is making life miserable for everyone is that he believes nobody loves him. Santa has a plan to find him a wife but first needs the reindeer he set loose back in Santa Land.

"Get out! Get out!" screamed the shocked Sun Daughter.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

Santa's eight reindeer did not want freedom. Neither did they want to find food for themselves if it meant leaving Santa Claus.

So, when Santa turned them loose they had merely hidden behind a snow ridge. When he had started out on his journey with Oonik the reindeer had followed, always from a distance, always out of sight.

They were very jealous of Keotuk because he pulled Santa's sled. When the polar bear started pulling the sled the reindeers' hearts were broken. They thought Santa had turned them free to get rid of them. But still they trailed him loyally.

It was true that Oonik had a fine hunter's eye and his father had trained him well. From the very beginning he had seen the reindeers' antlers far behind and sometimes heard the clatter of their hooves.

So now he said to the Ice King, "Do you have some salt?"

THE ICE KING replied. "Certainly. I have taken salt from sea ice and I use it to keep my ice from melting in the summertime. But this year there has been no melting and I have salt to spare."

Oonik took the salt the Ice King gave him and spread it on the steps of the castle. Then he clapped his hands and waved his coat and shouted.

By and by the reindeer, who were hiding behind a hill, came up, one by one, and gratefully licked the salt from the steps. Then Santa came out and greeted them and embraced them with tears in his eyes.

"Now," said Santa to the Ice King, "you must come and woo the Sun Daughter."

The Ice King trembled with eagerness. He took a comb of icicles from his pocket and carefully combed his silken hair.

"Do I look all right?" he asked nervously.

"Irresistible," said Santa.

He harnessed the reindeer to the sled and he and Oonik and the Ice King and Keotuk and even the polar bear, who did not want to be left behind, got on the sled. The eight reindeer, overjoyed to be working for Santa again, did not mind the heavy load. They lifted the sled into the sky and away they sped.

—:—

IN NO TIME at all they arrived in a land far to the East where the Sun Daughter dwelled.

Now this maiden was the favorite daughter of the Sun. She dwelled in the East so that her father could see her face the very first thing in the morning when he came over the horizon at dawn.

Though she was very beautiful, she had never married because she was very finicky and hard to please. Still she realized she was getting older every year and she often longed for a husband to spoil her when her father was not around to do it.

So she was overjoyed when Santa Claus suddenly appeared at her bright little cottage and announced he had brought her a suitor.

"Show him in!" she cried eagerly and she rushed to her little bedroom to change into a yellow frock and arrange her lovely yellow hair.

When she came back there was the Ice King standing there, overcome with admiration, the icicles trembling from his whiskers and the hoar-frost gleaming in his hair.

"Oh Beautiful One," he murmured tenderly and moved to take her hand.

But the Sun Daughter stepped back in horror. She snatched up a blanket and threw it around her shoulders.

"Get out! Get out!" she screamed. "I can't bear the cold!" And she went in her bedroom and slammed the door.

Furious, the Ice King stalked from the house. "See!" he shouted angrily at Santa Claus. "Everyone hates me. Take me home! I shall go back to my castle and make a winter that will last a thousand years!"

Group At Newell Reports On Treat

Representatives of five contributing organizations who helped sponsor a Christmas parade and children's treat in Newell Thursday met Friday night in the fire station to hear final reports.

Mrs. Mae Hupp, chairman, said over 600 children received treats from Santa Claus. Surplus candy and fruit was given to youngsters at the Hancock County Children's Home at Pughtown and to ill residents of the community.

The Yule celebration was cosponsored by the Boosters Club, firemen and auxiliary and American Legion and auxiliary. The Panhandle Business & Professional Womens Club helped pack and distribute the treats.

Four business places contributed toward the parade and treat.

Shepherd Watchdog 'Flunked His Test'

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) — The owner of a coffee shop arrived in the morning and found his German Shepherd watchdog locked in an automobile parked in the rear of the restaurant.

Cub Pack Meets With 125 Present

Some 125 parents and boys attended the meeting of Cub Pack 7 of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, Friday night at the school cafeteria.

Matthew Kuzmich Jr., cubmaster, introduced Mrs. Florence Gloeckner, new den mother of Den 2, and Bob Hissom, a committeeman. Frank Pucci, assistant cubmaster, spoke on the Golden Jubilee.

A donation was made to the St. Vincent De Paul Society.

The program was in keeping with the approaching holidays with Den 7 singing Christmas carols. Soloists were Stephen Zubay, Philip Hoschar, Robert Poole and Michael Giambroni.

Mrs. Gloeckner sang "O, Holy Night," accompanied by three cubs.

Santa Claus distributed gifts and refreshments were served.

The boys will receive Holy Communion in a group at the 9:15 a.m. Mass Jan. 3.

County Offices Will Pay More To Newcomers

The new year will bring a new salary schedule for Columbiana County offices but apparently none —with the possible exception of Common Pleas and Probate Judges — will be collecting any extra money.

Salary boosts for county officials were authorized by the General Assembly this year, but the new salaries cannot apply by law to those currently in office.

The first to collect will be newly elected officials in 1961 or present ones who are returned.

The prosecutor's office and county auditor are presently studying whether or not a $3,000 increase in salaries of judges may be applied in 1960, but no final decision has been reached.

Besides the salary boost authorized for the next county officials by action of the legislature, it is expected that the 1960 census will bring the county's population over 100,000, thus establishing a new basis for a higher salary schedule based on the different population level.

The present salaries are based on the 1950 census which gave the country a population of 98,000.

The present salaries, with the increases slated for the next elected officials in parenthesis, are:

Auditor, $8,500, ($9,000) treasurer, $7,900 ($8,600); sheriff, $6,400 ($7,100); clerk of courts, $7,600 ($8,800); recorder, $6,400 ($7,100).

Commissioners, $5,800 ($6,400) prosecutor, $7,100 ($8,000); engineer, $8,300 ($9,150); coroner, $3,600 ($4,000).

The two Common Pleas Court judges will receive $15,035, compared to the present $12,035. The increase will come from a boost of $3,000 from the state which will pay $7,000 of the salary, the county still paying $8,035.

The salary of the Probate Court judge post will also be made $15,035, an increase of $3,600 from the current salary of $11,435. The state's share will rise from $4,000 to $7,000, while the county's share will go from $7,435 to $8,035.

The 1960 salaries of the County Court judges will remain the same — $3,631.

Salaries for the staffs of the three county courts at Lisbon, East Palestine and Salem will total $21,000 — $3,000 a year each for 3 clerks in the courts and for the 4 men serving as deputies at Lisbon when the courts are closed.

Money for the salaries of the staffs are appropriated by the commissioners from the general fund. The county receives 55 per cent of the fines of cases in the courts along with all the costs. The state receives 45 per cent of the fines.

County School Supt. James L. McBride will receive a $500 salary boost granted by the county Board of Education, making his 1960 pay $9,000.

Rockefeller Decision Due Early In 1960

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — D-Day is approaching for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his day of decision on whether to challenge Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960.

Rockefeller is expected to announce his decision soon after the New Year weekend.

If it is "yes," he may at the same time authorize a group of supporters, waiting in New Hampshire, to enter him in the state primary election March 8.

New Hampshire holds the nation's first primary—and it was on this battleground in 1952 where a political unknown, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, first routed the forces of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. Now, New Hampshire may bring the first test of strength between Nixon and Rockefeller.

Many observers, eyeing Rockefeller's recent travels and tactics, believe he already has decided to try for the nomination.

He says he hasn't.

"I'm simply registering impressions," he says. "When I have all the possible facts, I will make up my mind. But not before."

What he has decided, he usually adds, is that in no circumstance will he be the GOP candidate for vice president. In a Miami television interview, the governor said that if he decided to seek the presidency he'd be delighted to have Nixon run for vice president again.

Without question, Rockefeller would like to be president. He has definite views on foreign and domestic problems confronting the United States. He would like to be in the White House, not merely for the honor, but to try to translate these ideas into national policy.

The governor has just returned from 5,636 miles of travel through Indiana, Missouri, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Texas and Florida. A month ago, he went to California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

Politically, he found much the same pattern everywhere—a majority of GOP officers openly favorable to Nixon for the nomination. They received him with varying degrees of friendliness, from coolness to hearty admiration. Many studied him with a calculating eye.

Rockefeller himself estimated "perhaps 70 per cent" of the GOP captains and lieutenants are for Nixon.

However, ending the last tour in Miami, Fla., he said he was "very pleased" with what he encountered on the two trips. Earlier, he said that in virtually every state he visited, he found Republicans who told him they would support him if he goes for the nomination.

Another pattern repeated itself, in some degree, in each state, too.

Rockefeller was merely a name and a photograph in the newspapers to many Republicans when he came into a state. Party workers told reporters, "We know Nixon. He's often been here and we've broken bread with him. We don't know Rockefeller."

Then they saw the governor in action.

One of his greatest assets—although he doesn't like to be reminded of it—is his high-energy personal charm. He seems to have charmed a great many Republicans who, prior to meeting him, felt firmly anchored to Nixon.

A Rockefeller backer in Oklahoma quoted the state chairman there as saying, after meeting the governor, "I'm still for Nixon, but I'd better stop listening to this guy."

Whether Rockefeller actually won any Republicans away from Nixon is almost impossible to know. But obviously he impressed a great many—and set them talking about a Nixon-Rockefeller alignment as the "dream ticket."

Rockefeller was smiling and he looked confident when he ended his latest exploration trip. But he was iscrutable as ever about his intentions. Does that mean he will challenge Nixon?

"Well," said a Republican leader, "after all this travelling and hard work, it will be mighty strange if he doesn't."

It was Ralph Waldo Emerson, the American essayist and poet, who said: "I hate quotations! Tell me what YOU know!"

Youth Is Slain By Grocer In Burglary Bid

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A blast from a double-barrel shotgun killed Joe Louis Lindsey, 19, of Warren Sunday. A northside grocer, Harry Graham, 64, said he fired the fatal shots after surprising Lindsey in a burglary.

Graham told police he heard a noise in his store building over an intercom system he installed, connecting his bedroom with the adjacent store. He said he got his shotgun, told his wife to phone the sheriff and went to the store.

From outside, Graham said, he saw Lindsey standing near the meat cooler with a ham in one hand and a bag in the other. The grocer said he wanted to keep Lindsey inside until the sheriff's deputies arrived and warned:

"Stay in there, if you don't want to get your head blown off."

But Lindsey dived through a window and began running along the side of the building, Graham told police. The grocer fired the shotgun at the fugitive.

Deputies round Lindsey's body face down in the grass on a vacant lot about 400 feet from the store.

Half the highway is within the Lockport city limits and has a 30 m.p.h. limit. But motorists headed west, on the the Niagara County side of the road, may drive up to 60 m.p.h. Officials are considering a 40 m.p.h. compromise.

Confident Living

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale

The Emperor Of The World

Marcus Tullius Cicero, Roman senator and greatest of Roman orators, awoke one morning with a distinct memory of his dream of the night before. He had seen, in this dream, the god Jupiter come to Rome to declare the son of one of the great Roman families chief ruler of the city. Cicero had been asked to call the city's outstanding young men into the temple of Jupiter. Curious citizens stood around outside the temple as the youths, wearing their formal robes, gathered.

Dr. Peale

FINALLY, THE doors opened, and the young men entered to be inspected by the god. None of them seemed to meet his requirements until one of the very last in line. To him, Jupiter stretched out his hand and proclaimed him the future ruler of Rome.

The face Cicero saw in the dream was not a face he knew, but he remembered it perfectly. And, that same day, as he walked the streets of ancient Rome, he saw that face on a young man leading a line of youths from the baths. He asked him who he was and was told that he was the nephew of Julius Caesar.

From that day on, he encouraged the young man in this career. And, after the murder of Julius Caesar, he saw the young man, as Caesar's heir, seize power together with Mark Antony and Lepidus.

The young man proved a treacherous friend; Cicero was proscribed and murdered. Ultimately Lepidus was forced into retirement and then, after Antony fell in love with Cleopatra, Antony went down to defeat and death. So the young man Cicero had seen in his dream became consul, then tribune, then general. The Roman republic died and this young nephew of Julius Caesar became Augustus Caesar Imperator, "Emperor of the Roman World."

IF YOU could look into one of the books of Roman history written after Augustus died, you will find that he reigned from 726 to 767 A.U.C. Those numbers and letters may be strange to you because they refer to years reckoned "anno urbis conditae" — from the building of the city. The "city" of course was Rome, the capital of the world.

In comparison with other Roman emperors Augustus, the first of the line, was a good man. Historians tell us his reign was marked by peace and prosperity in contrast to the turbulence which preceded it. In the troubled world of those times, this was regarded as a great achievement, a god-like one. So Augustus, in life called "the Emperor of the World," was treated as a deity. When he died, a ceremony of deification was held to install him among the gods his people worshipped.

The name of Caesar Augustus is in many books. But there is one book, however, that carries only one line with his name. It is by that line that he is now best known to us: "It came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be taxed."

THE PASSAGE goes on to say: "And all went to be taxed, every one to his own city." So it was that, in an obscure, faraway corner of Augustus' domain, a man named Joseph and a woman named Mary arrived one night in Bethlehem in Judea because of this decree. There she was delivered of a Child.

Caesar Augustus, "Emperor of the World," never saw this Child, never knew Him, never heard of Him. Yet isn't it curious that we remember him today largely because, in a yeaar that we now designate from the birth of this Child, Augustus signed a decree that sent a young couple on a journey during which was born the One who might really claim the title, "Emperor of the World."

Merry Christmas to all, then, in the name of an Emperor who, in the words of the hymn, will reign forever and ever and of whose kingdom there shall be no end.

Wife Kills Ohioan In Date Argument

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—John L. Butler, 30, was the victim in Lorain County's third fatal husband-wife argument in less than a month.

He was killed Sunday, police said, by Mercedes Butler, 24, in an argument over his dating a downstairs neighbor.

Police said Mrs. Butler visited the other woman and found her husband there. An argument started and was carried over to their own upstairs apartment.

Mrs. Butler said her husband hit her several times and that when he took out a pocket knife she grabbed it away from him and wounded him in the neck with it. He died from loss of blood.

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and described as follows, to wit:

Known as and being the north rectangular part of Lot Number Seventy-one Hundred Eighty-nine (7189) facing Eighteen and Sixty-one Hundredths (18.61) feet on Sophia Street and extending back rectangular an equal width to Rock Alley, together with the south rectangular part of Lot Number Seventy-one Hundred Ninety (7190), facing Six and Four Hundredths (6.04) feet on Sophia Street and extending back rectangularly an equal width to Rock Alley, being a strip of land facing Twenty-four and Sixty-five Hundredths (24.65) feet on Sophia Street and extending back an equal width to Rock Alley.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a bald-headed grandfather with a bay window. He looks every day of his 61 years.

Recently his firm (a men's haberdashery and clothing store of excellent reputation) started a new policy. For 80 years they had only men employes. Now they've taken on three women—a common-looking trio, all under 40, with dresses so tight they look like sausage casings.

They swap vulgar stories with the men, chuck them under the chin and make the old bucks think they're sophomores again.

I've told my old billygoat to remember his age and to stay way from these women. Should I go one step further and contact the higher-ups in the organization and suggest they throw the hussies out?—GRANDMA.

Dear Grandma: Your suggestion to the higher-ups, no matter how well intentioned, would be welcomed like a blizzard in June. They may get the notion you're trying to tell them how to run their store—perish the thought.

Forget about going to the brass and please stop nagging your billygoat. You may give him ideas he never had before. A man 61 isn't exactly mummified, you know.

Suspicious Of Son

Dear Ann: I'm having serious trouble with my 17-year-old son. He's been going with a lovely girl who is only 13. She's large for her age and quite grown-up in manner.

I have reason to believe they are more deeply involved than they should be. He's told me falsehoods about where they went for the evening and many incidents have occurred which have made me suspicious.

The girl's parents are separated and she lives with her grandparents. They can't do much about discipling her. My son's father is dead and I've done my best to raise a large family. When I suggested he take out other girls he said I had no right to pick his friends. What can I do?—B.B.B.

Dear B.B.B.: You can get some outside help before you get a phone call from the grandmother telling you the girl is in trouble.

Your son should not be taking out a 13-year-old. If you can't get through to him ask the football coach, the school principal, your doctor, clergyman or an uncle to talk to him. And good luck—you need it, Mother.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Air Force Sergeant Is Honorary Mother

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Air Force T-Sgt. H. T. Stow, stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base here, is an honorary mother.

When he was on recruiting duty at Davenport, Iowa, in 1955 Stow helped mothers and wives of Air Force men from nearby Clinton to set up a local chapter of the Air Force Mothers' Club. For his help, the ladies voted to make him an honorary mother in the club.

Children Treated At Annual Party Given By Lions

Santa Claus paid his annual visit to the Lions Club Friday, presenting gifts and treats to 36 children who were guests to the club at its meeting at the Travelers Hotel.

The youngsters sang Christmas songs led by Ernest Lowe before Santa (George McCullough) arrived.

The East Liverpool High School Madrigal Singers directed by E. King Mathews sang "A Musical Christmas Card," "God Rest Ye, Merry Gentlemen," "Away In a Manger," "O, Come All Ye Faithful" and "Christmas Hymn," closing with "Silent Night."

Victor C. Smith, president, introduced Richard Feldman and Steve Moore, East Liverpool High School students who were guests.

Johnston reminded members to turn in cash or bulbs from the club's light bulb sale. Those desiring to purchase additonal bulbs may contact him.

The next meeting will be Jan. 8. The Board of Directors will meet Jan. 4 at 6:30 p. m. at Tice's Restaurant.

Poet, Lecturer, Etc., Eyes New Role—Acting

NEW YORK (AP) — Mark Van Doren, poet, lecturer, Pulitzer Prize-winner and president of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, now will take on a new role — as an actor.

This will come about Oct. 8, 1960, when he appears in the production of his play, "The Last Days of Lincoln."

Cub Scouts Given Awards, Treats

Awards and service pins were presented at a meeting of Cub Scout Pack 74 Friday night at the LaCroft School.

Fred Hilditch, assistant cubmaster, presented a wolf badge to Keith Steiner; bobcat badges to Joe Hood and Jack Barrett and a lion badge to Gerald Moore, who was also advanced to Boy Scout Troop 74.

Robert Walker received underlines for two silver arrows, Carl Vest received a two-year pin and Richard Vest a one-year pin.

Ebert Nelson, James Starkey and Jack Barrett were introduced as new members. Austen Moore, cubmaster, presided. Den 2 opened and closed the meeting, and Den 4 won the attendance prize.

Plans were made to provide two baskets for needy families. Calendars and treats were distributed to the youths. About 30 attended. A planning meeting will be held Jan. 18 with Mr. and Mrs. William Jones of Fisher Park. The next pack meeting will be Jan. 25.
